Greeks Stage Demonstration

100,000 Join Funeral Cortege

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—More than 100,000 shouting demonstrators marched through the streets of Athens today in a mammoth funeral cortege for a left-wing youth killed in a political riot.

Heavily-armed riot police and troops kept watch over the vast crowd. They were under orders to crush the first sign of violence by followers of fallen Premier George Papandreu.

The crowd cried denunciations of the new Greek government, but under the threat of military intervention, the demonstration and burial took place without clashes.

Police, who gave crowd estimates, reported scores of persons fainted in the heat. The scene was chaotic at the cemetery, where thousands jammed the grounds, trampling graves and knocking over tombstones.

The demonstrators cheered wildly as Papandreu entered the cathedral where the body of 25-year-old Sotirios Petroulias lay. Petroulias was asphyxiated Wednesday night during a battle between police and thousands of Papandreu supporters in which more than 150 persons were injured.

The government of Premier George Athanasiadis Novas gave permission to hold the service at the cathedral. But the government placed armed forces in the Athens area on full alert against any violence.

After a 40-minute service at the cathedral, Papandreu left by a side street and the coffin was placed in a gilded hearse for the procession to the cemetery.

More than 50,000 chanting demonstrators followed the hearse through the sun-baked, crowded streets.

Residents To Move Village and All

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Residents of Klamath are ready to move — town and all.

The Northern California community, located on the Klamath River, was almost washed away during last year's Christmas floods.

The state resources agency has approved a federal plan for relocating the town, administrator Hugo Fisher said Thursday.

The new town will be built at least five feet above the river's record crest.

2 Texas Women Remain Missing

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The whereabouts of two attractive young Dallas women, missing since Sunday, remained a mystery today as police sorted meager clues.

State and local officers checked each tip that might lead to Susan Riggsby and Shirley Ann Stark, both 21.

The two were last seen here Sunday. A statewide search was launched Wednesday after a bundle of their clothing was found in a ditch near the north edge of Austin.

Miss Riggsby was in Austin to enroll for summer classes at the University of Texas. Miss Stark accompanied her to Austin. They are sorority sisters.

7-Inch Rain Soaks Hillsboro

Electrical Storm Drenches County; Lightning, Wind Damage Reported

Pickaway County was drenched with a rainfall during the night that measured as much as 4½ inches in some sections.

The downpour started shortly before 10 p. m. and continued until daybreak today. The welcome precipitation was officially recorded for Circleville at 2.38 inches.

A sidebar of the much-needed rain was a severe electrical storm which caused some damage in many areas of the county.

High winds were also reported west of Circleville. In the Williamsport area, corn crop damage was attributed to the wind driven rain. Several trees and utility poles also were downed by the wind, causing electrical outages in the areas hit.

LIGHTNING also was blamed for phone service problems in many areas, although there were no major lines downed. Phone service that was disconnected during the storm was individual stations.

The Circleville and Pickaway

County area was somewhat fortunate in the amount of rain that fell during the night. A report indicated Hillsboro in Highland County received 7.20 inches. The official record at Washington C. H. was 3.19 inches.

A gauge at the Smith farm, near South Bloomfield, showed 4.5 inches of rain in the six-hour period. At Ashville, one resident listed a 3.8 inch count.

Pickaway Twp. seemed to receive the least amount of rain in this area. According to Willard England, only 1.40 inches fell there.

Last night's rainfall pushed the rain gauge one inch above the average for the month of 3.11 inches. Until yesterday drought conditions existed and actual precipitation for July was 1.25 inches behind normal accumulation.

Scattered thundershowers are forecast for today, tonight and tomorrow. The humidity is expected to climb with temperatures in the 90s. Nighttime readings are expected to be in the

High Property Damage Seen; Train Derailed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A parched Ohio got rain — lots of it — Thursday night and Friday, and the Weather Bureau said more was expected over the southern two-thirds of the state.

Hillsboro and Highland county were hit early Friday by the worst cloudburst in a dozen years and observers estimated the storm caused thousands of dollars worth of damage to roads, property and crops.

The Weather Bureau said 7.2 inches of rain fell on the largely rural county between midnight and 7 a. m.

The rain washed away roadsides and part of the track bed near New Vienna, where a Baltimore & Ohio freight train was derailed. The sheriff's department said many small bridges were washed away and at one time seven highways were closed to traffic.

In the northern part of the county, Lee's Creek rose over its banks and flood waters got into Leesburg's pumping station. That village of about 1,000 also was without electricity for a while when lines shorted out.

The thunderstorms left in its wake a tangle of downed wires all over the county, as well as flooded basements and cars. The municipal ball park in Hillsboro was heavily damaged.

Two crewmen of the B&O freight were injured when their train hit a washout on the track near New Vienna. The two engines and 20 cars were derailed.

The injured men, the engineer and brakeman, were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital in Washington Court House, and were reported in fair condition. They were identified as J. H. Wells and Donald Vickers.

About 25 feet of track bed beneath the tracks had washed away.

Heavy overnight rains in southern Ohio also washed out many bridges and blocked roads. Two ambulance drivers, L. Eugene Smith and Bill Dodd of New Vienna, were injured when

Harriman, Soviets Talk 'About Trade'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department says roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin talked about trade, scientific exchanges and other matters when they met Wednesday in Moscow.

An earlier meeting had dealt with international issues.

State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey told newsmen that Harriman had not engaged in negotiations — only an exchange of views. Harriman has left Moscow for a tour of several other European capitals.

Three-Day Observance

Derby Community Prepares For 51st Annual Fish Fry

The stage is nearly set for this year's 51st annual Derby Fish Fry. The three-day observance opens July 29.

The yearly event, one of the oldest community celebrations in the county, is sponsored by the Derby IOOF Lodge and Men's Community Club.

A program loaded with activity and events has been scheduled. Included will be the selection of a homecoming queen and prince and princess, a baby parade, horse pull, bicycle and pet parade, flower show, antique gun exhibit, a horse show for youth, awarding of prizes, dancing and a big parade on Saturday.

Selection of a homecoming queen will be made July 29. Young ladies 13 through 17 are eligible. Registration will be conducted 5 p. m. the same day and judging will commence at 5:30.

THE prince and princess contest is set for July 30. Eligible are youngsters 5 through 7. Registration has been set for 5 p. m. and judging will follow.

The baby parade also is a July 30 event. Here is the contest schedule: tots 6 months to 1 year, 10 a. m.; 1 to 2 years, 10:30 a. m.; 2 to 4 (girls), 11 a. m.; 2 to 4 (boys), 11:30 a. m. Registration will be conducted one-half hour before each age category.

Horse pull activity will start 10 a. m. July 30 and the bicycle and pet parade will get under way at 1:30 p. m.

Exhibits for the flower show will be accepted from 2 to 4 p. m. on July 30. Judging will commence at 4 p. m. and the display will be open for viewing starting 6 p. m. in the Derby Methodist Church.

Tories Seek New Leader

Heath, Maudling Are Favorites

LONDON (AP)—With Edward Heath and Reginald Maudling the leading contenders, Britain's Conservative party began preparations today to elect a new party leader.

Former Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home laid down the party reins Thursday night, bowing to criticism that has steadily mounted since the Labor party defeated his forces in the October general election. He had succeeded Harold MacMillan as party leader and prime minister in October 1963.

Both Heath, 49, and Maudling, 48, are formidable opponents in the battle to win the support of a decisive majority of the party's 303 members in the House of Commons. Christopher Soames, 44-year-old son-in-law of the late Sir Winston Churchill, was considered a possible compromise choice.

The Conservatives are looking for a man to match Prime Minister Harold Wilson's rapier tongue in the daily cut and thrust of debate in Commons. The party has no deep ideological divisions, but younger members especially felt Douglas-Home lacked both drama and a needed streak of ruthlessness.

Heath, a foreign policy expert regarded as Douglas-Home's protege and one of the fiercest debaters in Commons, was the front runner in London's betting handbooks at odds of 4-6, meaning a backer had to stake 6 pounds to win 4.

He is a bachelor, a factor some party members believe counts against him. And his more vocal supporters upset other Conservatives with pressing demands that Douglas-Home step down.

Maudling, former treasury chief, has the right family man image, with an attractive ex-actress wife, a pretty daughter with her own stage ambitions and three schoolboy sons.

He is quoted at events in the handbooks, stake a pound to win a pound.

Dirksen's Reapportionment Idea Debated in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate was caught up today in a battle over Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen's proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment.

The fight may be a lengthy one. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said, "I'm not as optimistic as I was" about adjourning by Labor Day. "This could throw a roadblock in the way."

The amendment to overturn the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision of last year would permit one house of state legislatures to be apportioned on the basis of geography and political subdivisions as well as population if the people approved in a referendum.

Dirksen got the issue before the Senate by calling up a resolution to designate Aug. 31-Sept. 6 as American Legion Baseball Week and then moving to substitute for it his proposed constitutional amendment.

Mansfield later told newsmen he was "leaning very strongly in the direction" of supporting Dirksen's proposal to upset the Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on the basis of population.

Although opposing sides were digging in for a determined battle, Mansfield said he did not expect the Senate to be paralyzed until the issue is resolved.

He said he understood Dirksen was agreeable to permit action on vital bills like the defense appropriations measure and various noncontroversial measures to be sandwiched into the debate on reapportionment.

Also, Conference Committee agreements on bills previously passed by both the Senate and the House like the Social Security-health care measure have a privileged status and can be called up at any time.

Dirksen carried the issue directly to the Senate after he found earlier in the week that his Judiciary Committee apparently was deadlocked 8-8 on his proposed amendment.

President Johnson never has taken a public stand on Dirksen's amendment, but Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been fighting it behind the scenes.

Surgery Used To Help Bull Become Papa

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Medical science has done all it can for Lindertis Evulse, the valuable bull who proved a dud at romance. Now it is a waiting game to see whether Lindertis can become a father.

Doctors who operated on the $176,400 Aberdeen Angus said it will be from six weeks to a year before they can determine if they actually helped Lindertis.

The surgery Thursday bypassed a blockage in the tube through which sperm flows.

Black Watch Farms at Wappingers Falls, N.Y., bought the animal in Scotland with high hopes. However, he failed to sire a single calf and Lloyds of London reimbursed the farm the purchase price under an insurance policy guaranteeing virility.

Inside an antiseptic operating room at Auburn University's veterinary school, Lindertis was strapped stomach and feet to a hydraulic lift table.

While Dr. Donald F. Walker, veterinary medicine professor, operated, about 45 newsmen and students watched from an observation room.

Lindertis will remain at Auburn for several months. Jack R. Dick, managing partner of Black Watch, said if the operation works, "this bull could produce more than $10 million worth of calves."

Nasser Snorts At America's Price for Aid

CAIRO (AP)—Relations between the United Arab Republic and the United States appeared to be taking a turn for the worse today, the 13th anniversary of the revolution that brought Gamal Abdel Nasser to power.

President Nasser charged Washington with making "astounding" demands on his government in return for U.S. aid.

Speaking at a rally in downtown Cairo, Nasser said the United Arab Republic "faced many political and economic pressures from the United States. As the United States gave Egypt essential aid of wheat shipments, relations improved in 1959 and 1960, but as the wheat supplies increased, then began the pressure basically concerning Israel."

Late in 1963, he asserted the United States asked the U.A.R. not to produce nuclear weapons, to stop production of missiles, to freeze the size of the Egyptian army and to allow American officials to make inspections to assure the agreement was being carried out.

"I was astonished by these demands. . . why not simply announce our country was an American colony?" he told a cheering crowd.

Discrimination Ban Is OK'd by Senate

To be eligible for the rent subsidy, persons would have to meet the same income qualifications that apply to those admitted to public housing. These depend on family size and vary from place to place. They are determined by local housing officials.

This income limitation alters the effect of the subsidy program substantially from what the administration originally proposed. It projected the subsidies as a help for persons not so deprived financially as to qualify for public housing, but still unable to obtain in their communities adequate and sanitary housing for what they could afford.

The subsidies as provided in the bill would be the difference between a fair rent and 25 per cent of family income. This is not quite as generous as the administration proposal to provide the amount above 20 per cent of income.

The government would pay this part of the rent to nonprofit organizations building or buying housing units. None of the subsidies would go to the private landlords.

Sponsors said it may be two to three years before large volume construction of the housing units can be completed, but effects will be felt to some extent much sooner because the bill authorizes the purchase of existing housing units for the program.

The bill also carries authorization for a $47 million-a-year program to provide 240,000 additional low rent public housing units in a four-year period. Some of the units would be obtained by purchase or rental of existing buildings.

Jury Clears Jim Brown in Assault Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — A jury found football star Jim Brown innocent today of assault and battery against an 18-year-old girl in a motel room last month.

The seven women and five men deliberated an hour and 20 minutes before returning the acquittal verdict in Municipal Court where the Cleveland Browns fullback has been on trial since July 12.

Brown had testified he "didn't lay a finger on" Miss Brenda Ayres, who accused him of slapping her on the face, stomach and hip and having sex relations with her after giving her whisky.

He said Brenda knocked on his motel room door at 3 a. m. June 20 and wanted to talk, and they talked until he went to play golf about 5 a. m., leaving her $5 for taxi fare home.

The defense argued injuries shown on Brenda's body in photographs introduced by the prosecution had been inflicted by someone other than Brown.

Norman S. Minor, Brown's attorney, drew a warning he would be in contempt if he persisted in using the word "shakedown" in trying to establish that Brenda's charges were an attempt to get money from Brown who earns upward of $50,000 a year.

AEC To Reveal 15 to 30 Sites for Atom-Smasher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission plans to announce next week a list of 15 to 30 possible front-runners in the virtually nationwide contest over location of the proposed $280 million atom-smasher machine.

Better Communications Needed, Johnson Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Better communications are bound to bring about better understanding, President Johnson says.

Speaking to members of the World Press Institute Thursday, Johnson hailed the day when "men everywhere will be able to receive in their homes telecasts (of) sessions of the United Nations." At present, he said, 70 per cent of the world's peoples have no means of being informed about events even in their own countries.

Fireworks are as old as civilization, the National Geographic says. Combustibles similar to those exploded on the Fourth of July were made by ancient Chinese and Indian firemakers with charcoal and saltpeter. The later addition of sulphur produced gunpowder — long before the invention of the gun.

House Doubles High Property... Antipoverty Money Total

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to double — to $1.9 billion — the funds authorized for President Johnson's antipoverty program.

But the legislation the House passed Thursday despite Republican efforts to limit it faces slow going in the Senate, where it may have to compete for right-of-way with a controversy over reapportionment of state legislatures.

The victorious House Democrats had their closest call when Republicans fought to retain in the law a provision giving governors the right to veto certain poverty projects. The bill would eliminate this veto power, which opponents said is arbitrary and discriminatory and has enabled some state executives to override the wishes of local communities in shaping programs.

A Republican-backed amendment to continue the veto power lost 155 to 150 on a nonrecord vote and then 227 to 178 on a roll call.

On passage of the bill itself the vote was 245 to 158, with 24 Republicans joining 221 Democrats to make up the majority, 110 Republicans and 48 Democrats voting against.

Republicans argued that the program in its year of existence has become entangled in local politics and patronage and has been poorly administered.

One proposed amendment, which was defeated, would have barred the administrator of the program from holding any other federal job. Sargent Shriver, chief of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), also is director of the Peace Corps.

There were unsuccessful attempts to cut the funds, tighten state control over programs and clip the authority of the OEO.

Two of the farthest ranging of the poverty programs are the Job Corps, which under the bill would provide training and basic education in residential camps for 80,000 youths, and VISTA, the so-called domestic Peace Corps, which would enroll 5,000 volunteers to work on antipoverty projects in 200 communities.

Other programs, and the goals that would be set for them by the bill, include: Neighborhood Youth Corps for youngsters living at home to gain work experience, 300,000 now and 100,000 more next summer.

College work study to help students finish their education, 145,000 students.

Adult basic education, 70,000 trainees.

Community action programs, helping local organizations carry out antipoverty projects, 1-100 grants in 700 communities.

Astronaut To Become Aquanaut

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Navy christens today a gleaming white vessel which is designed primarily to go no place but down.

The 12 x 57-foot steel cylinder, called Sealab II, will be sunk off La Jolla, Calif., in mid-August as an underwater home for 20 divers — including astronaut Scott Carpenter — who will live and work at a depth of about 200 feet for up to 30 days.

The $850,000 project is a second step in the Navy's man-in-the-sea program, ultimately aimed to provide bases from which divers can roam freely for periods up to 90 days at depths down to 800 feet.

The first step was Sealab I, a 10-foot vessel used by four divers for 11 days at a depth of 193 feet off Bermuda last summer.

Astronaut-aquanaut Carpenter, a Navy commander, was to have taken part in the Sealab I project but suffered a leg injury in a preliminary dive.

He was chosen to head one of two teams in this year's project "because he has had very intensive training in working in a hostile (space) environment," say Navy officials, and because he has had extensive skin diving experience.

Confirmation by voice vote came after the Supreme Court justice told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the issue of world peace "transcends every issue our country and mankind has to face."

The rapid rise in consumption of coal and oil has increased the amount of carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere. Since carbon dioxide helps the earth to hold the heat of the sun, some scientists predict that the earth's temperature will increase appreciably in the coming years. This might have wide-ranging effects, such as the melting of much polar ice and a rise in the sea level.

Their ambulance went into a stream where a bridge had collapsed. They were en route to the derelict. Both were hospitalized because of water-covered roads. A Leesburg ambulance took the injured trainmen to the hospital.

East of Hillsboro, camping at Rocky Fork Lake State Park was suspended after a bridge below the dam was washed out.

A terrific windstorm which many observers believed approached tornado velocity struck an area around Hunt's Station in Knox County three miles south of Mount Vernon. Barns were moved from their foundations, trees were knocked down, some roofs blown off, and a trailer overturned. Some power and telephone lines in the area also were knocked down. No estimate of damage was immediately available.

Elsewhere for the most part, however, the rain was a welcome sight.

Most of the state has been well below normal in rainfall and the Weather Bureau at Columbus said recently "it would take better than an inch of rain over the whole state to improve the situation."

Many areas—especially in the southern half of the state—got well over that.

Washington Court House, not far from Hillsboro, reported 3.91 inches by Friday morning for the second largest rainfall. The Zanesville area had heavy amounts with Roseville getting 3.35 inches, New Lexington 3.19.

Columbus received little more than half an inch, but parts of Franklin County around the city got as much as 2.10 inches. Circleville was drenched by 2.38 inches.

More than an inch was reported at Chillicothe with 1.38 inches, Delaware 1.80, Marysville 1.02, Bournesville in Ross County 1.81, Marion 1.18, Peebles in Adams County 1.60 and Williamsburg in Clermont County 1.22.

Cleveland, on the other hand, reported just a trace—.01, while Akron had .02 and Youngstown .04.

A pre-dawn wind and rain storm buffeted parts of northern Indiana, leaving scattered damage.

TWO BARNs struck by lightning during the night-long electrical storm, were burned to the ground.

A 30 by 20 foot frame structure owned by Robert Duvall on Durrett Road contained 150 bales of straw and 375 bales of hay. Volunteer firemen from the Ashville-Harrison Department and from Harrisburg were called to the scene at 5 a. m. but could save neither the barn nor its contents.

At almost the same time, a barn owned by Kermit Braskett, Route 2, Ashville was ignited by lightning.

An 80 by 40 frame building, it contained three wagons, a tractor, milking equipment, 50 bales of hay, 50 bales of straw and 200 bushels of oats.

The Commercial Point Volunteer Fire Department battled the blaze.

In Atlanta the belfry of the Methodist Church was struck by lightning, but it was discovered in time for firefighters from New Holland and Williamsport to douse the blaze before extensive damage was caused.

CHARLES Winner, 1090 Sunshine St., was admitted to Berger Hospital after he was injured trying to clear a fallen tree from the Florence Chapel Road.

Winner is an employee of the County Highway Department.

2 Missing Boys Found in Kansas

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two suburban Fairfax boys reported missing Wednesday have been found in Kansas.

Police said a patrolman in Belleville, Kan., spotted Paul Haefling, 14, and his brother Walter, 13, in a car early today and halted them. The teenagers are being held for their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Haefling, who planned to leave here today.

Two other Fairfax youngsters — Johnny Hundley and Jimmy McQuay, both 9, disappeared last fall and have never been found.

Logan, Athens See Bogus Bills

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Circulation of bogus $20 bills all bearing the same serial number has been reported in Athens and Logan.

Police Chief J. B. Grogan of Athens said the two bills passed here were an "excellent job of counterfeiting." In Logan, where five of the bills were passed Wednesday, Police Chief Roy Kelch said the person who passed the bills "could be a tall, attractive, well-dressed blonde woman."

Federal authorities have been notified. The bills carry serial number L-170-794-65A, officers said.

President Signs Legislation For New Silverless Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today legislation taking silver out of dimes and quarters and reducing the silver content of half dollars, and said there will be no profit in hoarding the present coins.

Johnson, speaking at a White House rose garden ceremony, said neither the present coins nor the new ones will have any scarcity value.

The mint is geared to get into production quickly on the new coins and produce more than 3.9 million of them in the next year, and twice that amount in the following twelve months if necessary, he said.

Johnson noted that this is the first fundamental change in the nation's coinage in 173 years.

He said the change is necessary because silver is scarce.

"Our uses of silver are growing as population and economies grow," Johnson said. "The hard fact is that silver consumption now is more than double new silver production each year."

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler brought along samples of the new coins. Two dimes, two quarters and two half-dollars were encased in a blue plastic block which Johnson held up for the benefit of photographers. Johnson noted that the samples, called "strikes", will never be put in circulation. They have a portrait of Martha Washington on one side and a picture of Mount Vernon on the other. All the "strikes" will be melted down.

When the new coins appear, they will contain the same portraits as the old ones—Franklin D. Roosevelt on the dimes, George Washington on the quarters and John F. Kennedy on the half dollar.

Hereafter, half dollars will contain 40 per cent silver instead of the standard 90 per cent now contained in half-dollars, quarters and dimes.

Replacing the silver will be the same copper-nickel alloy now used in five-cent pieces.

AEC To Reveal 15 to 30 Sites for Atom-Smasher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission plans to announce next week a list of 15 to 30 possible front-runners in the virtually nationwide contest over location of the proposed $280 million atom-smasher machine.

But an AEC spokesman said none of the other seekers of the prize award will be considered disqualified. They may still have a chance.

Some 110 proposals — representing locations in all states except Alaska, Hawaii, Delaware and Vermont — have been under consideration by the AEC as possible sites for the 200 billion electron volt atom-smasher which would be the world's most powerful. It would cost $50 million a year to operate and be nearly a mile in diameter.

AEC experts have been screening the proposals for months, and the plan now is to turn over to a special committee of the National Academy of Sciences a list of 15 to 30 proposals which, in the AEC's view, "most closely fill the criteria" for a site for the device.

The committee's task will be to select three or four sites as the "finalists" — and then the AEC, presumably with White House concurrence, would select the winner by the end of this year.

But the AEC spokesman said all the original 110 proposals will be turned over to the NAS committee which will be free to put any of them in running if it chooses to do so.

The criteria listed for a desirable site by the AEC some time ago say such a site would:

1. Contain at least 3,000 acres owned by or reasonably available to, the federal government.
2. Have the potential to deliver firm electric power of several hundred million watts and a minimum of 2,000 gallons a minute of water.
3. Be reasonably close to a desirable site by the AEC some time ago say such a site would:
4. Be close to a major airport.

Strike by Postmen Piles Up Mail

TORONTO (AP) — Mail piled up in post offices across Canada today as wildcat strikes by postal workers spread to at least 43 communities in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia. The 1,200 members of the Toronto letter carriers' local joined in the walkout despite pleas for patience from the Postal Workers' Brotherhood. More walkouts were in prospect.

The postal workers are seeking increases of $660 a year. Last week the government ordered increases of $300 to $360 a year. The top salary for letter carriers after five years is $4,600 a year.

Man, 25, Indicted For Triple Slaying

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — The Lorain County Grand Jury has indicted Lorne F. Alexander, 25, of Lorain on three counts of first-degree murder in the strangulation slayings last week of his common-law wife and her two children.

The indictments came as a surprise Thursday. Usually indictments are not issued until after a preliminary court hearing. Alexander's hearing was scheduled for next Tuesday.

Assistant prosecutor Joseph Grunda said the grand jury action was to protect Alexander's constitutional rights by insuring a speedy trial.

(Continued from Page One) their ambulance went into a stream where a bridge had collapsed. They were en route to the derailment. Both were hospitalized because of water-covered roads. A Leesburg ambulance took the injured trainmen to the hospital.

East of Hillsboro, camping at Rocky Fork Lake State Park was suspended after a bridge below the dam was washed out.

A terrific windstorm which many observers believed approached tornado velocity struck an area around Hunt's Station in Knox County three miles south of Mount Vernon. Barns were moved from their foundations, trees were knocked down, some roofs blown off, and a trailer overturned. Some power and telephone lines in the area also were knocked down. No estimate of damage was immediately available.

Elsewhere for the most part, however, the rain was a welcome sight.

Most of the state has been well below normal in rainfall and the Weather Bureau at Columbus said recently "it would take better than an inch of rain over the whole state to improve the situation."

Many areas—especially in the southern half of the state—got well over that.

Washington Court House, not far from Hillsboro, reported 3.91 inches by Friday morning for the second largest rainfall. The Zanesville area had heavy amounts with Roseville getting 3.35 inches, New Lexington 3.19.

Columbus received little more than half an inch, but parts of Franklin County around the city got as much as 2.10 inches. Circleville was drenched by 2.38 inches.

More than an inch was reported at Chillicothe with 1.38 inches, Delaware 1.80, Marysville 1.02, Bournessville in Ross County 1.81, Marion 1.18, Peebles in Adams County 1.60 and Williamsburg in Clermont County 1.22.

Cleveland, on the other hand, reported just a trace—.01, while Akron had .02 and Youngstown .04.

A pre-dawn wind and rain storm buffeted parts of northern Indiana, leaving scattered damage.

Fort Wayne was heaviest hit

TWO BARNs struck by lightning during the night-long electrical storm, were burned to the ground.

A 30 by 20 foot frame structure owned by Robert Duvall on Durrett Road contained 150 bales of straw and 375 bales of hay. Volunteer firemen from the Ashville-Harrison Department and from Harrisburg were called to the scene at 5 a. m. but could save neither the barn nor its contents.

At almost the same time, a barn owned by Kermit Braskett, Route 2, Ashville was ignited by lightning.

An 80 by 40 frame building, it contained three wagons, a tractor, milking equipment, 50 bales of hay, 50 bales of straw and 200 bushels of oats. The Commercial Point Volunteer Fire Department battled the blaze.

In Atlanta the belfry of the Methodist Church was struck by lightning, but it was discovered in time for firefighters from New Holland and Williamsport to douse the blaze before extensive damage was caused.

CHARLES Winner, 1090 Sunshine St., was admitted to Berger Hospital after he was injured trying to clear a fallen tree from the Florence Chapel Road.

Winner is an employee of the County Highway Department.

2 Missing Boys Found in Kansas

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two suburban Fairfax boys reported missing Wednesday have been found in Kansas.

Police said a patrolman in Belleville, Kan., spotted Paul Haefling, 14, and his brother Walter, 13, in a car early today and halted them. The teenagers are being held for their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Haefling, who planned to leave here today.

Two other Fairfax youngsters — Johnny Hundley and Jimmy McQuay, both 9, disappeared last fall and have never been found.

See Bogus Bills

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Circulation of bogus $20 bills all bearing the same serial number has been reported in Athens and Logan.

Police Chief J. B. Grogan of Athens said the two bills passed here were an "excellent job of counterfeiting." In Logan, where five of the bills were passed Wednesday, Police Chief Roy Kelch said the person who passed the bills "could be a tall, attractive, well-dressed blonde woman."

Federal authorities have been notified. The bills carry serial number L-170-794-65A, officers said.

President Signs Legislation For New Silverless Coins

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today legislation taking silver out of dimes and quarters and reducing the silver content of half dollars, and said there will be no profit in hoarding the present coins.

Johnson, speaking at a White House rose garden ceremony, said neither the present coins nor the new ones will have any scarcity value.

The mint is geared to get into production quickly on the new coins and produce more than 3.9 million of them in the next year, and twice that amount in the following twelve months if necessary, he said.

Johnson noted that this is the first fundamental change in the nation's coinage in 173 years.

He said the change is necessary because silver is scarce. "Our uses of silver are growing as population and economies grow," Johnson said. "The hard fact is that silver consumption now is more than double new silver production each year."

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler brought along samples of the new coins. Two dimes, two quarters and two half-dollars were encased in a blue plastic block which Johnson held up for the benefit of photographers. Johnson noted that the samples, called "strikes," will never be put in circulation. They have a portrait of Martha Washington on one side and a picture of Mount Vernon on the other. All the "strikes" will be melted down.

When the new coins appear, they will contain the same portraits as the old ones—Franklin D. Roosevelt on the dimes, George Washington on the quarters and John F. Kennedy on the half dollar.

Hereafter, half dollars will contain 40 per cent silver instead of the standard 90 per cent now contained in half-dollars, quarters and dimes.

Replacing the silver will be the same copper-nickel alloy now used in five-cent pieces.

Judge Raps Appellate Court Stand

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds charged Thursday some appellate courts are protecting criminals rather than society.

Judge Reynolds, who has spent almost 3 years on the bench, made his criticism after the 10th District Court of Appeals ordered a new trial for a defendant because of remarks Reynolds made to the jury. The court said the judge's remarks were improper.

The defendant, Tony Louis of Columbus, was found guilty Jan. 21, 1964, of burglary, armed robbery and rape.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Reynolds said Louis "had a perfect right not to take the witness stand but the jury had a right to consider that fact and attach such weight to it as you deem proper."

The appellate court held that Louis was within his rights in not testifying and that Reynolds' remarks were prejudicial. It cited a recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court which says a trial judge may not comment on the refusal of a defendant to testify.

"Those courts don't consider if he committed the crimes," said Judge Reynolds.

"They are looking out for the rights of the defendants who, when they commit these crimes, forfeit many of their rights."

"They should start looking out for the rights of society—the people."

Boy Injured In Civil War Play Is Better

CINCINNATI (AP)—Stephen Wilhite, the youth injured during an enactment of history that never really happened, remains in a hospital, but his condition is reported improving.

The 17-year-old honor pupil from Maud has been in Christ Hospital here since June 26, that's when he was struck in the head by either a live bullet or wadding from a blank cartridge while participating in a sesquicentennial celebration at nearby Winchester in Adams County.

The latest hospital report has Wilhite in fair condition. But he has not yet been operated on to remove the object from his head.

Wilhite was injured acting out the "made up" part of a boy who had shot the cap from Gen. John Morgan's head during the Confederate general's Civil War raid of Southern Ohio towns including Winchester.

Wilhite was shot when Morgan, played by the youth's uncle, Charles Dorsey, ordered him executed by a mock firing squad.

Several guns were fired, and Wilhite slumped to the ground. Doctors believe the boy might have been struck by a live bullet, but won't know until he's operated on.

Passing Ship Blamed For Death of Man 77

ALGONAC, Mich. (AP) — A Marine inspector and police are investigating the possibility that a Toledo man whose body was found in the St. Clair River near here may have drowned when a passing freighter struck his boat.

The dead man is 77-year-old Lewis Habicht, whose body was discovered Thursday.

John Glenn's Health Said 'Perfect' Now

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—America's first orbiting astronaut, John Glenn Jr., formerly of New Concord, Ohio, has been given a clean bill of health by doctors at Wilford Hall USAF Hospital here.

The retired Marine colonel showed no lingering effects from a fall last year which caused loss of balance. The injury prevented Glenn from campaigning for the U. S. Senate in Ohio.

"IT MUST BE RIGHT OR WE MAKE IT RIGHT"

By Hal Boyle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — America, I love you.

It's a wonderful feeling to be back home after nearly three months of reporting the war in South Viet Nam.

You want to turn handsprings in the street, kiss every pretty girl you meet, lap up every malted milk in town. But the most glorious thing of all is the wonderful taste of fresh water that you don't have to boil before drinking.

I guess that, aside from the presence of his loved ones, the thing a fellow unconsciously misses most in Viet Nam is the flavor of safe, honest water, drunk straight from the faucet. It's a pleasure to hold up a glass of it and just look at it.

Another thing that hits you when you return to America are the store windows. You feel like a kid in a candy store. There usually isn't much worthwhile to spend your money on in a war zone, and you build up a mad desire to buy something—anything.

San Francisco is one of the best cities of the world for window shopping. After an hour of it—thank heaven the fine shops were all closed at that hour—I entered a drugstore and after staring at all the displays finally made a purchase. I bought a pocket comb, an item I could have bought at a hundred street stands in Saigon.

An odd thing was that crossing an American street gave me a feeling of nervous uncertainty. There is nothing more chaotic than traffic in the Far East, but there aren't as many big cars over there, and they don't come at you so quickly.

It's great to be back in a country that has a change of climate and never runs out of ice cubes, but there are a few things about Viet Nam I'll never forget.

Such as: The handless beggar in Saigon who held up both arms and said bitterly, "You don't like see." The persistence of street money changers who follow you for blocks. Fearfully tasting your first Vietnamese meal, and finding you liked it. The welcome shining in children's faces, and the half-masked hate of the outsider occasionally showing in the faces of their parents.

The hidden tension among Americans after a terrorist bombing. Riding in a triacab at dusk under the peaceful flame trees in Da Nang. Watching air-dropped flares falling at midnight like man-made stars. Waking in darkness and wondering if distant explosions were theirs or ours.

Climbing into a plane as a crew member matter of factly points out the patches on wings and tail where bullets came through. Flying over endless stretches of green jungle which a fellow reporter aptly described as "the cauliflower sea." Barbecuing steaks at the "Doom Club" at the Da Nang airbase with joking pilots, some of whom you knew might never make it home.

But what must linger longest in the memory of anyone who goes to Viet Nam is the idealism of the American men who are serving there. The United States has never sent better-trained, more dedicated sons anywhere, and it brings a soreness to the heart to realize that the ordeal of the duty they are doing so well can only deepen in the hard months ahead.

Adlai Grew into Strength

By John Chamberlain

When Adlai Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, died so tragically in a London street, it cut short what promised to be the most positive phase of a diffident man's career.

For a long period this columnist was anti-Stevensonian. The reason had mostly to do with the quality of Stevenson's speeches. They always "listened" well—but when one wrestled with their content after they had been delivered one found that they almost invariably consisted of the evocation of a problem, not with its solution. There would, characteristically, be a shining invocation to the need for peace. "The farmer wants better prices; but he wants peace more."

The businessman wants stability and the laborer wants security, of course; but they want peace more." Exactly, so one always said to one's self, but how does Mr. Stevenson propose to get peace? By keeping one's armaments up to snuff? By nipping aggression in the bud? By creating a league of the powerful and the just, such as NATO might become? There was never any answer that I could find in Adlai Stevenson's shining words.

In his last days as Ambassador to the UN, however, the glint of steel started to come into Stevenson's eye. It had taken him a long time to become riled with the behavior of the Communists and their fellow-travelers among the Afro-Asian bloc, but he finally decided that the time had come to hit at hypocrisy directly. When the Soviets and some of the tropical Afro-Asian representatives tried, with no shadow of evidence, to saddle certain American mining corporations in Southwest Africa with the blame for South Africa's apartheid labor policies, it was too much for him to swallow. And when the Soviet Union asked last spring that the United Nations Disarmament Commission be convened, Stevenson remarked acidulously that his country stood ready to participate, but preferred "a negotiation committee to a debating committee."

In short, Adlai Stevenson had become impatient with what he had finally come to recognize as the "Aesopian language" of Communists. The man who had always been the debater par excellence wanted something more than debate.

He put his new-found realism into an excellent speech at Toronto, calling attention to the propaganda put out by "the Marxist Ministry of Truth" which had "perfected the exercise of converting black into white and up into down." Heartened by Stevenson's statement that "nowadays totalitarianism is the new democracy, Communist intervention is liberation, and counter-intervention against it is western imperialism," this columnist wrote: "We await Adlai Stevenson's next speech at the UN. If he can carry through a campaign to get the assembled nations to accept his own definition of 'neo-aggression,' the United States will make a beginning at using the UN for purposes that combine decent human objectives with the obvious national interest."

The "next speech" will never be delivered. But if the question of "neo-aggression" is to be on the agenda for some future session of the UN, the next U.S. Ambassador should take the Stevenson words at Toronto for a test. It could be that some of the Afro-Asian nations, disillusioned by the attempts of the Red Chinese and the Russians to foist new "revolutions" on them when they have already had their anti-colonial revolutions, would welcome some action on Adlai Stevenson's Toronto call for a new definition of what constitutes aggression. Someone might yet convulse the United Nations by asking why the particular jungle road leading from North Vietnam through supposedly neutral Laos into South Vietnam is called the Ho Chi Minh trail if the Communist Ho Chi Minh is innocent of using it.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The Viet Nam war hangs over the stock market. It also beclouds the prospects for another tax cut. It threatens to swell the defense budget again. It makes uncertain the plans of many young Americans, either of draft age or in Reserve or National Guard units — and the immediate future of their families.

Stock traders get skittish when the news out of Viet Nam looks really bad, as distinguished from just bad as usual.

And when the traders take to the sidelines and cut their risks, prices of many stocks fall, however temporarily. War scrambles the plans of business concerns as well as of individuals.

Hopes of another federal tax cut in 1966 have been riding high. The very uncertainties right now in the business outlook for next year made a tax cut seem more likely. The idea was that a tax cut would be the tool the administration would use to pep up personal incomes and thus consumer buying, and hence industrial activity.

But if the Viet Nam war takes a much larger assignment of U.S. troops and money, the defense budget will rise next year. And increased federal spending also is regarded as a pep pill for the economy. This might be all that the administration considered necessary to keep the economy growing.

That government planners already were looking to either tax cuts or increased spending of one sort or another as necessary to achieve the growth goals is indicated by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, in testimony before members of the joint House-Senate Economic Committee.

The council would like to see the economy grow at a rate of 4 per cent a year between now and 1970. He says that to achieve this the government would probably have to continue taxing and spending policies that would result in still more federal budget deficits.

If the economy grows by 4 per cent each year, federal tax revenues will rise because the growth will produce still higher personal incomes and still higher corporate earnings from which the Treasury will collect income taxes.

But Ackley thinks it doubtful that much, if any, of these increased federal revenues can be used to reduce the steadily growing federal debt. He says that to use them for that purpose would discourage economic growth — and thus lower the personal and corporate incomes on which the Treasury could levy its taxes.

As to which will get priority in keeping the economy rolling — tax cuts or spending — Ackley says much will depend on the size of the Viet Nam war. If its cost rises sharply, increased government spending would make tax cuts less attractive. In war time the tendency is for tax rates to rise, not fall.

The government would need the money. It also would want to discourage private spending for industrial goods that might compete with government demands for them.

"It is a beauty," she agreed with admiring cohorts, "but I'm afraid it carries the Slibovitz curse." "That's one curse I never heard of," admitted the wardrobe mistress. "What is it?" The siren eyed her ring sorrowfully and explained, "Slibovitz comes with it."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Our daughter graduated from high school this year. She will be going away to college in the Fall.

We have known for a long time that she has been unhappy about the size and shape of her nose, but, like most parents, we feel that she is pretty and talented and we cannot see anything wrong with her nose. We have asked some very close friends, and they seem to agree with her. How can we talk her out of this unnecessary operation?

Mrs. M. G., Ohio
Dear Mrs. G: More and more young people today are aware of the importance of good looks, at school, at work and in social relationships.

When their features are good, their hair attractive and their skin in healthy condition they have a better sense of security and a feeling of well-being.

The nose is a particular target for self-criticism. No matter how lovely the other features are, when the nose is misshapen the problem seems to be devastating to young girls.

When they see dramatic and beautiful results in other girls' nose operations, or "plastics," it is understandable that they, too, want to enjoy the benefit of cosmetic surgery.

Very often teenagers exaggerate the need to improve their noses. However, in your daughter's case, since you have polled the opinion of interested and devoted friends and you and your husband have been outvoted, one must assume that a nasal plastic would benefit her looks and her morale.

There are many questions that parents want to ask about a nasal plastic operation. Is it a safe operation? It is remarkably "safe" and usually free of any complications.

Can you always predict the exact shape that the nose will be? In most instances, the surgeon can fulfill many of the expectations and desires of his patient. It must be remembered, however, that the healing process varies with each person. The duration of the post-operative swelling for example, depends on the patient rather than on the surgery itself. Therefore, the exact shape of the nose is not always exactly predictable.

Before a young patient and her parents undertake the important step of plastic surgery, they should make sure that they understand the psychological reasons for the operation. Sometimes, people expect a

By Hal Boyle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — America, I love you. It's a wonderful feeling to be back home after nearly three months of reporting the war in South Viet Nam.

You want to turn handsprings in the street, kiss every pretty girl you meet, lap up every malted milk in town. But the most glorious thing of all is the wonderful taste of fresh water that you don't have to boil before drinking.

I guess that, aside from the presence of his loved ones, the thing a fellow unconsciously misses most in Viet Nam is the flavor of safe, honest water, drunk straight from the faucet. It's a pleasure to hold up a glass of it and just look at it.

Another thing that hits you when you return to America are the store windows. You feel like a kid in a candy store. There usually isn't much worthwhile to spend your money on in a war zone, and you build up a mad desire to buy something—anything.

Mrs. M. G., Ohio
Dear Mrs. G: More and more young people today are aware of the importance of good looks, at school, at work and in social relationships. When their features are good, their hair attractive and their skin in healthy condition they have a better sense of security and a feeling of well-being.

The nose is a particular target for self-criticism. No matter how lovely the other features are, when the nose is misshapen the problem seems to be devastating to young girls. When they see dramatic and beautiful results in other girls' nose operations, or "plastics," it is understandable that they, too, want to enjoy the benefit of cosmetic surgery.

Very often teenagers exaggerate the need to improve their noses. However, in your daughter's case, since you have polled the opinion of interested and devoted friends and you and your husband have been outvoted, one must assume that a nasal plastic would benefit her looks and her morale.

There are many questions that parents want to ask about a nasal plastic operation. Is it a safe operation? It is remarkably "safe" and usually free of any complications.

Can you always predict the exact shape that the nose will be?

In most instances, the surgeon can fulfill many of the expectations and desires of his patient. It must be remembered, however, that the healing process varies with each person. The duration of the post-operative swelling for example, depends on the patient rather than on the surgery itself. Therefore, the exact shape of the nose is not always exactly predictable.

Before a young patient and her parents undertake the important step of plastic surgery, they should make sure that they understand the psychological reasons for the operation. Sometimes, people expect a complete social rebirth with their new and improved nose. If this does not happen, the disappointment can be very great, even though the outward appearance of the nose is perfect. You will find that a frank discussion with the surgeon will bring to light your daughter's deeper reasons for the operation and will reveal how realistic she is about the way she expects it will affect her happiness.

The timing seems to be ideal. She is embarking on a new phase of life, away from home, when it is so important that she feel good about herself.

You will have great satisfaction when you see the self-assurance and psychological benefits that your child will enjoy.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Communists despised him, Benjamin Gitlow was a nobody to most Americans when he died this week in New York at 74. Yet, he was anything but a nobody.

He was given an imperishable place in American history 40 years ago for a reason he couldn't have imagined at the time.

The Supreme Court's decision in his case in 1925 — he had been convicted of criminal anarchy — was one of the half-dozen or so most important opinions the court has ever given.

Ironically, because it did him no good, at the very moment of turning him down the court threw in a few paragraphs which opened the way for it later to protect individual liberties from intrusion by the states.

Gitlow started out as a Socialist, broke away, helped found the American Communist party and later was twice its vice presidential candidate.

For a decade he was one of its top leaders, made three trips to Moscow, was honored by the Kremlin, broke with Stalin in 1929 over Russian dictatorship, was thrown out of the party, and became a dedicated anti-Red.

The event which put him in the history books began in 1919

when he and some others published the "Left-Wing Manifesto" at a time when a New York law forbade "advocacy of criminal anarchy."

The manifesto called for mass strikes and establishing a "dictatorship of the proletariat." He was accused, and found guilty, of advocating the overthrow of the government by force.

Up until then the court had been the great protector of property but not the protector of the individual's right of freedom of speech from state interference.

In ruling against Gitlow the court said he had advocated changing the government by unlawful means and wasn't preaching an "abstract doctrine." That was the reason for upholding his conviction.

(His sentence had been five to ten years but he was finally pardoned.)

But then, in a few paragraphs which did not apply to Gitlow or help him, the court made a few statements which were to change its course in protecting freedom of speech.

The Constitution's 1st Amendment, while forbidding Congress to abridge freedom of speech, religion and assembly, doesn't forbid the states to do so.

The amendment had been intended in the first place to protect states and their citizens from the federal government. But in 1868 the 14th Amendment was added to the Constitution and said states can't deprive citizens of life, liberty or property without "due process of law."

If the court ever needed any excuse to link the 1st and 14th Amendments together — and thus protect freedom of speech from both state and federal infringement — it could have done so easily any time after 1868.

It preferred to protect property by linking the two amendments until the Gitlow case. And there the court threw in the statement that the liberty mentioned in the 14th Amendment included freedom of expression.

It added that the Constitution, nevertheless, didn't confer an "absolute right to speak without responsibility." So, it said, the freedom of speech can't be abused.

From this decision in Gitlow's case the court went on — but slowly to protect freedom of speech although it's had some trouble making up its mind sometimes on just how free freedom of speech could be.

Justice Hugo Black insists the freedom of speech guaranteed by the Constitution is "absolute." He thinks the 1st Amendment would even outlaw suits for libel and slander. The rest of the court hasn't gone that far.

The Gitlow in Gitlow vs. New York — which is the way the case is listed in law books — may not mean much to future generations so far as he as an individual goes but his case is a landmark.

Unclaimed in State Coffers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There's money—$390,807 of it—lying unclaimed in the state treasury, but it appears no one is in a rush to pick it up.

State Auditor Chester W. Goble said he found the unclaimed money for state bond holders. Some unredeemed bonds and uncashed interest coupons date back to April 15, 1959, he said.

The auditor is president of the State Sinking Fund Commission, which is responsible for the bonds. His figures are based on an auditor of the bond accounts for the state budget year which ended June 30.

The unclaimed money, safely stored in state bank accounts, gathers no more interest after bond and coupon maturity dates. The bonds are from World War II and Korean War veterans bonus issues, capital improvement and highway construction.

McIlwain, 43, is the second Democrat to announce for governor. The other is House Democratic Leader A. G. Lancione of Belmont County. William White of Mount Vernon is the far.

McIlwain is a well-known Cincinnati criminal lawyer. He is serving his second term in the Ohio House. He was the only Democratic representative elected from Hamilton County in 1962. He was re-elected in 1964.

McIlwain charged Rhodes "is practicing waste, waste of human lives and resources."

"In mental health," McIlwain said, Rhodes "has brought insecurity and instability. In the juvenile program, he has inhuman warehousing."

"In education, he has furthered the shifting of cost to the homeowner. In welfare, he has allowed people to go hungry. In safety, his answer to 2,200 deaths on Ohio highways is to withhold funds for state patrolmen."

"These programs were moving forward until Rhodes took the reigns of government," McIlwain said. "He has sabotaged them under the false colors of economy."

"Like a carnival barker," McIlwain said, Rhodes "has sought to detract from the seriousness of his programs by noise and show."

"In the meantime, tax resources have been mortgaged for 40 years, and the state has been promoted into over one billion dollars of indebtedness," he added.

Experts Give Advice on Hairstyling

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

A statement on style from a leading coiffeur — that's high-fashion language for a hair stylist — means much to the average woman.

A coiffeur is a man who literally sets styles as American women concentrate a major portion of their glamorizing efforts on getting a headstart in beauty.

Not surprisingly, many of these headlines in the hair style field are located in New York, a world fashion center.

Among their ranks, John Christie, Jr., is a favorite with the younger set. He specializes in styling for smart teens, seeking to get them out of slacks and into, chic feminine attire — with, of course, hairdos to match.

Young Christie thinks teens spend too much time setting their hair. Instead of keeping it closely and tightly curled, he thinks the ideal young look calls for soft, fluffy, feminine loose curls.

His formula for achieving same is a blunt hair-cutting that eliminates "straggly" ends.

But the cut is only a small part of his concept of the ideal young coiffeur.

What also needed, he insists, is brushing — and lots of it.

At his salon, brushing with a rotary motion is part of the pre-styling picture. Hair isn't "combed out", rather it's "brushed out" vigorously.

Brushing, with plenty of elbow grease — round and round so that hair clings to the brush — is what he advises teens to do more often.

"Brushing stimulates the scalp," he says — Grandma said the same thing — "making the hair livelier and healthier. By brushing, you can whip a setting into a variety of different styles."

Right now, his idea of the young look calls for hair that's short and sweetly styled so it looks fetchingly feminine.

Another widely-quoted stylist, Julius Caruso, noted for the fabulous coiffures he creates for top fashion models, is intrigued with another age group — at least for the moment.

"The most elegant women I know are over 40," he says. "They have perfected a style of their own — and they're not swayed by fashion fancies."

For those over 40, who are minus the personal style that appeals to Caruso, he offers this advice:

"You must concentrate on lifting lines to add brightness and verve to the face.

"Hair should be brushed upward with firm, swirling strokes before it's combed into place."

To find the right style, Mr. Caruso says, "Look at the profile! Often a woman looks only at her front view — but the mature woman must also be aware of the side sweep of her hair. It must be soft and brushed upward to complement her jaw line."

Because hair tends to "relax" with time, Caruso suggests that a good cut and shaping are necessary and so is a permanent.

If you're planning on a do-it-yourself go at today's casual styles, a push-button home permanent set on rollers is ideal. It gives a soft curl.

And to prove that home hair care is easier than ever, the push-button kit now contains sponge end papers that really grip the hair, won't slide, tear or crumple like ordinary end papers.

Whether you're in your teens, twenties or upward and onward age-wise, stylists agree that if hair's straight a permanent is

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren Don't Do It Mom!

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my son (I'll call him Joey), who is 18 and the eldest of six children. He was an honor student and won a partial scholarship. Last year he started going with a 17-year-old girl. He just informed us that he wants to marry her. It seems she is having trouble at home and our son wants her to live with us, after they get married, while he goes away to college. We have five other children, Abby, and I don't know how we could manage it. It's not fair to my husband, either, as he already works very hard with long hours, trying to support the family he has. Can parents just refuse to help their son? He could never marry her without our help. We were hoping Joey would finish his education before thinking of marrying. What's the best way to handle this touchy problem?

JOEY'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You would be doing your son a great favor to refuse to help him marry this girl now. Marriage should not be used as an "escape" for a girl to get out of the house. I suspect she is too young for marriage and too old for adoption. Joey may be a bright student but he has much to learn about life. He's generous, but short-sighted. Guide him.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you'd say something about retirement for housewives. I never was crazy about housework, but I have done it for over forty years. I've raised my children and learned to be a good cook and keep a neat house. I did all my own washing and housework because these things are expected of a woman. Now my husband is retired and he lays around the house all day, but I am busier than ever. He wants three big meals a day, a fresh shirt every morning and all the things he's been used to. I love my husband and want to do right by him. But, Abby, I am so tired. When I suggest that he help me with something in the house, he just laughs and says, "That's woman's work." When do WOMEN retire?

WEARY
DEAR WEARY: Some women "retire" the day they get married. Others must wait until they are buried.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and have just completed my freshman year at a coed college. I want to tell all those girls who "wonder" if boys really like "a sweet, old-fashioned" girl what I learned from experience. Don't be shocked if even the "best" boys try. After I painstakingly explained my views on moral, many more dates and fine friendships resulted. Some jokingly called me puritanical, prudish, and mid-Victorian, but I was elected to a position of high honor by the student body. There were times when I actually pitied the poor girls who had allowed boys liberties, thinking it would increase their popularity.

(I have a brother, and boys talk.) The girls who were parked on dark roads at night were ignored by the same boys in broad daylight. Keep telling young girls that it pays to be good, Abby. I am — and I am "NOT SORRY"

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 16 years old and I know what's considered good manners and what isn't. But what I want to know is why can't I just be myself at home?

When I eat I like to sit comfortably, and so I lean back in my chair. My Mom says it is incorrect to sit in this manner, and I agree with her. But I claim it is okay to sit like that at home as long as I realize it is wrong and don't "goof" when I'm eating out. The same goes for table manners. Who's right?

LEAN TO
DEAR LEAN: You're not. We are all creatures of habit, and habits are learned at home. So make a habit of your "company manners" and you'll never have to worry about "goofing" when you're out.

Church Group Holds Election Of Officers

New officers were elected when The Ladies Missionary Crusaders of the Church of Christ in Christian Union met recently.

The Rev. Edward Adkins served as chairman for election of the following: Mrs. Mildred Moats, president; Mrs. Marvene Rhinehart, vice president; Mrs. D. McCain, treasurer; Mrs. Edna Temple, secretary.

Members will meet every Tuesday from 9:30 a. m. till 3 p. m. in the southeast basement of the church to sew and prepare articles to be sent to various mission fields and home missions.

Anyone is welcome to attend.

the same hours. In order to receive clothing a referral slip must be presented. Referral slips will be given to the proper people by the welfare departments, schools, churches and the Juvenile Court. A permanent file is being kept in an effort to see that the clothing is distributed fairly and to those who really need it.

After the final distribution day, the council will hold a meeting to discuss the results and to make changes in procedures if warranted. Those who turned in referral slips on the first distribution day in June need not get another one.

The greatest need is for clothes for infants and all school age children. The council requests that clothing be clean, but it does not necessarily have to be ironed.

The room and heating and lighting facilities are furnished by the County Commissioners who recently painted it and remodeled the shelves. The Juvenile Court is sponsoring the plan and the Council of Church Women were appointed to conduct the project.

Churches participating are: First Baptist, Second Baptist, Church of the Brethren, Episcopal, St. Joseph's, Presbyterian, Calvary EUB, First EUB, Methodist, St. Paul's AME and Trinity Lutheran. All churches in Pickaway County are invited to participate. Mrs. Marge Whaley and Mrs. Lou Stout are co-chairmen of the council. Mrs. Lorentz is publicity chairman.

Major Bills Start Moving In Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Major bills have started to move with swift precision in the Ohio Legislature but a couple of snarls will extend sessions at least into next week.

During fast-moving deliberations Thursday:

—The Senate approved pay raises for all officials elected statewide, including a boost in the governor's yearly pay from $25,000 to $40,000.

—Senators voted to create four new municipal courts and establish additional common pleas judgeships in five counties.

—The Senate added $9 million to the House-passed 625 million school foundation bill and recommended passage.

—Senators killed an administration bill that would have permitted state universities and colleges to assign freshman and sophomore students to branch campuses.

—The House passed and returned to the Senate a measure permitting breweries to sell beer and hard liquor on their premises in a move designed to attract a new $50 million brewery to Franklin County.

—The House Education Committee rejected a plan to submit the controversial school bus measure to voters in the form of a constitutional amendment and handed the hot issue to the House Finance Committee.

—Committees of both houses agreed on separate reapportionment plans.

Senators voted without dissent for the House-approved state pay raise bill. Amendments by the upper chamber added $5,000 to the boost proposed by the House for the governor, and hiked the increase for the lieutenant governor from 8,000 to $20,000 instead of 15,000 as proposed in the House.

Senators voted two weeks ago to kill the omnibus municipal court bill but revived and passed it after Republicans agreed to a Democratic amendment delaying countywide jurisdiction of Cincinnati Municipal Court for two years.

The bill expands jurisdiction of the Cincinnati court along with those in Canton, Massillon, Miamisburg, Port Clinton, and Sandusky. New municipal courts would be established in Fremont, Mason, Vermilion and Bowling Green.

Senate action completed legislative approval of the measure to add one common pleas court judge in Cuyahoga, Summit, Hamilton, Stark, and Medina counties. The new Hamilton County jurist will be assigned to juvenile court, and the one in Summit County will sit in domestic relations cases, under the measure.

Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas criticized Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents, before aligning fellow Democrats for defeat of the branch campuses bill.

King said Millett agreed to support an amendment under which main university campuses would accept first and second-year students chronologically according to their date of application. "Then the Republicans heard about it and started raising objections, and he (Millett) reneged. He went back on me," King said.

King offered the amendment which he said would prevent giving universities too much discretion to assign student on the basis of ability and make branch campuses "into a dumping ground for nincompoops."

Without dissent, the House approved and sent to the Senate a measure to allow school boards to purchase school buses regardless of any centralized purchasing plan. The bill received an immediate hearing by the Senate Education Committee, which recommended passage.

The reapportionment proposals were in the form of constitutional amendments which would be offered voters in November as substitutes for the one they defeated in the May primary.

The Senate Civil Service and Elections Committee came up with one to allow one House member for each 64,000 Ohioans instead of the present 97,000 ratio.

A plan agreed to by members of the House committee

LOCAL COMBO — "The Invincibles," a local combo, will appear at the Fantasy Farm Park near La Soursville Lake near Middletown, on Sunday afternoon. 835 Died in Chicago Mishap 50 Years Ago

CHICAGO (AP) — "All of us were laughing and joking," Anna Grimmer, 70, Oak Park, recalls. "Suddenly the boat lurched to one side and we gasped for breath."

It was 50 years ago at 7:30 a.m. July 24. Mrs. Grimmer, then Anna Meinert, sat on the upper deck of the excursion steamer, Eastland, with fellow employees of Western Electric Co.

Moments after the lurch, the Eastland, which had 2,500 people aboard, rolled on its side and settled in 18 feet of water beside a Chicago River mooring. Within the next few minutes 812 passengers died, most of them trapped in lower deck compartments. Injuries and disease raised the toll later to 835.

Mrs. Grimmer, unable to swim and trying desperately to keep afloat, saw the leg of a man who was clinging to the upset vessel. She grabbed the leg and tried to pull herself out of the water. The man kicked himself free.

That is when I panicked," she remembers.

Like many survivors, she was finally hauled to refuge on the vessel's side, which was above water, and got ashore on a bridge improvised from rafts.

The Eastland was one of five boats chartered for the holiday outing of 7,000 employees of Western Electric's Hawthorne Works. The picnic was to have been held in Michigan City, Ind., a four-hour boat ride from Chicago.

As hundreds struggled in the water, workers in the big Reid-Murdock building, now Chicago's Traffic Court Center, threw wooden chairs into the river from the windows. Produce handlers in South Water Market across the river heaved lettuce crates, fruit baskets and what ever was at hand that would float. Many survivors grabbed these makeshift life preservers.

Joseph J. Paluch, at 74, a retired Chicago savings and loan executive, stood on the boarding deck with a friend, Barney Napolski, as the open hatch on the left side of the vessel suddenly dipped under the murky water.

"The weight of the boat caused an extreme force of water through our opening, and we were carried across the boat," he recalls.

"The other side was not turned up, and I could see the light. The water was near the top, and we had no trouble getting out."

Moments later, Paluch and Napolski were lying on the Eastland's hull beside the hatch, dragging others out of the vessel.

Victims were brought ashore and laid in lines. For a time, efforts were made to resuscitate them.

The circumstances which caused the 2,200-ton vessel to capsize were fixed in a finding

Miss Shea Earns Medal In Olympics

The Circleville Swim team earned its first gold medal ever this week in Junior Olympics competition at Columbus.

Turning the trick was Debbie Shea, an outstanding performer for the local squad. She earned the first place honor in the 100-yard breaststroke for girls 13 and 14. Her time was 1:20.8.

Miss Shea was one of 43 local swimmers participating in the Olympics competition at Sunshine Pool in Columbus. The event ended yesterday, with Circleville gaining 10½ points.

Earlier this week, local swimmer Mike Merriman and Brenda Anderson earned places in the Olympics event. Merriman was a second in a 50-yard freestyle for boys 15, 16 and 17. Miss Anderson finished fifth in the 100-yard butterfly for girls 15, 16 and 17.

In the way of additional honors, Miss Shea and Merriman earned second place trophies last week at Twin Towers in Columbus.

Circleville coach Jim Shea announced that 15 of his swimmers will participate in an invitational today at Delaware.

would reapportion both the Senate and House and provide for annual sessions of the legislature. It calls for one representative for each 55,500 Ohioans and creates a 162-member House and 74-member Senate. There are now 137 House members and 32 senators.

Two senators would be elected from each of the state's 24 congressional districts.

Both plans call for combining counties which lack the population for a representative but differ on what to do about large counties with several times the ratio.

The Senate plan would permit counties with more than four ratios to divide themselves into subdistricts or elect representatives at large.

Under the House plan, larger counties would be split into districts with a limit of three representatives in each district.

Boys Pilfer Big Arsenal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Assistant U. S. Attorney Nathaniel R. Jones says two Bedford teenagers pilfered the Ravenna Arsenal July 5, and in the process could have set off an explosion that would have caused widespread death and destruction.

He said the boys, aged 16 and 17, climbed the fence to the 22,000-acre military reservation and set off roman candles through a ventilator of an ammunition brinker. Then they snipped the lock of another bunker and took two 90-millimeter artillery shells.

He said the boys used bolt cutters to snip the lock and walked off with the 40-pound shells—with the combined explosive power of 1,920 sticks of dynamite.

Jones said the boys fortunately picked an empty bunker to try to blow up. If it had not been empty, Jones said, the fireworks would have set off the volatile ether the shells give off.

The boys tried several methods of dismantling the shells, Jones said. "They actually sawed one shell apart and twisted the other with a wrench."

The teen-agers were caught July 6 when they were seen pouring gunpowder on tracks of the Norfolk & Western Railway in Bedford Heights. He said the boys ignited the powder, but it only burned and did not damage the tracks.

The FBI is searching Tinker's Creek in Bedford Heights for a highly explosive charge that propels the shell in flight. Jones said water does not affect the booster's explosiv power. He said the boys threw the booster in this creek after dismantling the shells.

Jones said he will discuss prosecution of the case with the boys' parents.

Your Carriers Jim Bohnhoff Hails from Grove City

Another of The Herald's recent additions to the carrier staff is Jim Bohnhoff, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bohnhoff, 531 E. Franklin St.

Jim and his family moved here in December from Grove City. His father is employed by the Circleville Metals Works as a machinist.

At 14, the carrier's ambition is to "follow in his father's footsteps." Jim claims he has some natural aptitude for mechanics and his hobby is building model cars.

He and his father are now working on a King Midget, a small car manufactured at Athens, O.

The Bohnhoff youth will be a sophomore at Circleville High School this fall. He has worked at his paper route at The Herald since March of this year.

School Said Damaged By Highway Builders

CLEVELAND (AP)—Paul W. Briggs, Cleveland school superintendent, says highway construction within 50 feet of Buhrer Elementary School has caused a crack in a wall and 512 students may have to go elsewhere o school next fall.

"The wall is likely to collapse," he said. The completed section of the highway, Interstate 1, will run some 20 feet from the school. Pillings for a retaining wall used in pouring concrete caused the crack.

Major Bills Start Moving In Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Major bills have started to move with swift precision in the Ohio Legislature but a couple of snarls will extend sessions at least into next week.

During fast-moving deliberations Thursday:

—The Senate approved pay raises for all officials elected statewide, including a boost in the governor's yearly pay from $25,000 to $40,000.

—Senators voted to create four new municipal courts and establish additional common pleas judgeships in five counties.

—The Senate added $9 million to the House-passed 625 million school foundation bill and recommended passage.

—Senators killed an administration bill that would have permitted state universities and colleges to assign freshmen and sophomore students to branch campuses.

—The House passed and returned to the Senate a measure permitting breweries to sell beer and hard liquor on their premises in a move designed to attract a new $50 million brewery to Franklin County.

—The House Education Committee rejected a plan to submit the controversial school bus measure to voters in the form of a constitutional amendment and handed the hot issue to the House Finance Committee.

—Committees of both houses agreed on separate reapportionment plans.

Senators voted without dissent for the House-approved state pay raise bill. Amendments by the upper chamber added $5,000 to the boost proposed by the House for the governor, and a hike in the increase for the lieutenant governor from 8,000 to $20,000 instead of 15,000 as proposed in the House.

Senators voted two weeks ago to kill the omnibus municipal court bill but revived and passed it after Republicans agreed to a Democratic amendment delaying countywide jurisdiction of Cincinnati Municipal Court for two years.

The bill expands jurisdiction of the Cincinnati court along with those in Canton, Massillon, Miamisburg, Port Clinton, and Sandusky. New municipal courts would be established in Fremont, Mason, Vermilion and Bowling Green.

Senate action completed legislative approval of the measure to add one common pleas court judge in Cuyahoga, Summit, Hamilton, Stark, and Medina counties. The new Hamilton County jurist will be assigned to juvenile court, and the one in Summit County will sit in domestic relations cases, under the measure.

Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas criticized Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents, before aligning fellow Democrats for defeat of the branch campuses bill.

King said Millett agreed to support an amendment under which main university campuses would accept first and second-year students chronologically according to their date of application. "Then the Republicans heard about it and started raising objections, and he (Millett) reneged. He went back on me," King said.

King offered the amendment which he said would prevent giving universities too much discretion to assign student on the basis of ability and make branch campuses "into a dumping ground for nincompoops."

Without dissent, the House approved and sent to the Senate a measure to allow school boards to purchase school buses regardless of any centralized purchasing plan. The bill received an immediate hearing by the Senate Education Committee, which recommended passage.

The reapportionment proposals were in the form of constitutional amendments which would be offered voters in November as substitutes for the one they defeated in the May primary.

The Senate Civil Service and Elections Committee came up with one to allow one House member for each 64,000 Ohioans instead of the present 97,000 ratio.

A plan agreed to by members of the House committee

835 Died in Chicago Mishap 50 Years Ago

CHICAGO (AP) — "All of us were laughing and joking," Anna Grimmer, 70, Oak Park, recalls. "Suddenly the boat lurched to one side and we gasped for breath."

It was 50 years ago at 7:30 a.m. July 24. Mrs. Grimmer, then Anna Meinert, sat on the upper deck of the excursion steamer, Eastland, with fellow employees of Western Electric Co.

Moments after the lurch, the Eastland, which had 2,500 people aboard, rolled on its side and settled in 18 feet of water beside a Chicago River mooring. Within the next few minutes 812 passengers died, most of them trapped in lower deck compartments. Injuries and disease raised the toll later to 835.

Mrs. Grimmer, unable to swim and trying desperately to keep afloat, saw the leg of a man who was clinging to the upset vessel. She grabbed the leg and tried to pull herself out of the water. The man kicked himself free.

That is when I panicked," she remembers.

Like many survivors, she was finally hauled to refuge on the vessel's side, which was above water, and got ashore on a bridge improvised from rafts.

The Eastland was one of five boats chartered for the holiday outing of 7,000 employees of Western Electric's Hawthorne Works. The picnic was to have been held in Michigan City, Ind., a four-hour boat ride from Chicago.

As hundreds struggled in the water, workers in the big Reid-Murdoch building, now Chicago's Traffic Court Center, threw wooden chairs into the river from the windows. Produce handlers in South Water Market across the river heaved lettuce crates, fruit baskets and whatever was at hand that would float. Many survivors grabbed these makeshift life preservers.

Joseph J. Paluch, at 74, a retired Chicago savings and loan executive, stood on the boarding deck with a friend, Barney Napolski, as the open hatch on the left side of the vessel suddenly dipped under the murky water.

"The weight of the boat caused an extreme force of water through our opening, and we were carried across the boat," he recalls.

"The other side was not turned up, and I could see the light. The water was near the top, and we had no trouble getting out."

Moments later, Paluch and Napolski were lying on the Eastland's hull beside the hatch, dragging others out of the vessel.

Victims were brought ashore and laid in lines. For a time, efforts were made to resuscitate them.

The circumstances which caused the 2,200-ton vessel to capsize were fixed in a finding by the federal courts. On Aug. 7 two weeks after the accident, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld a lower court ruling that the Eastland's owners were not liable for damages.

The Eastland was seaworthy, the courts held. Responsibility was not pinned down, although the finding said instability resulted from failure to maintain full water ballast tanks.

The ballast tanks had been emptied in order to raise the low boarding hatch high enough to accommodate a gangplank from the river bank.

The Eastland lay unused in a slip for years after the accident, then the Navy claimed it, took away most of the high superstructure, painted the vessel and renamed it the Wilmete.

During World War II the ship served on Lake Michigan training Navy gun crew members which she took on cruises 800 at a time.

In 1946, at the age of 43, the ship was sold for scrap.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, July 23, the 204th day of 1965. There are 161 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
In 1889, John L. Sullivan defeated Jake Kilrain in a 5-round, bare-knuckle fight at Richburg, Miss., winning a $20,000 stake and the world heavyweight championship.

In 1914, Austria-Hungary sent an ultimatum to Serbia, leading to the Austrian declaration of war on July 28.

In 1929, Chile signed the Kellogg-Briand Pact, renouncing war as an instrument of national policy.

In 1945, Marshal Henri Petain went on trial as a traitor to France.

In 1959, Vice President Richard Nixon flew to Moscow to open the American National Exhibition there.

Ten years ago — West German President Theodor Heuss signed a bill empowering his government to recruit 6,000 troops as the first German contribution to NATO.

Five years ago — Cuba and Communist China signed an agreement in Havana for a five-year sale of Cuban sugar to China.

One year ago — One-hundred persons were killed in the explosion of an Egyptian munitions ship in the Algerian port of Bone.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "All the great prophets are messengers of God; each one in his day gave the highest teachings that the people could then receive, and educated men so that they were able to receive further teachings from his successors.

"Baha'u'llah calls upon the adherents of each religion not to deny the divine inspiration of their own prophet, but to acknowledge the divine inspiration of all other prophets; to see that the teachings of all are essentially in harmony, and are parts of a great plan for the education and unification of humanity."

Puffy has a problem. She's much better at climbing trees than she is at getting down again. Usually someone has to get a ladder and bring poor Puffy back to earth.

People share Puffy's problem. Their fears are forever driving them to do what they can't undo. They run away from reality only to wish they hadn't. We have even coined the idiom "up a tree" to denote the dilemma of a situation from which we cannot free ourselves.

With people, it takes more than a ladder to solve the problem.

Through the centuries men have found Faith an answer to fear. Our churches cultivate courageous Christians. For with confidence in God comes confidence in ourselves.

The man who knows he's never alone doesn't run away.

A HIGHER BROW AUDIENCE—Comedian-pianist Victor Borge got tired of performing for people, so he moved into the giraffe pen at the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo, in Colorado Springs, Colo., to play for a captive audience.

THE POWER OF THE WORD OF GOD ON THE LIVES OF MEN

Scripture—Acts 17:10-18; Romans 15:4-6; I Timothy 4:13-16; II Timothy 3:10-17.

By R. H. RAMSEY

TODAY'S lesson takes us first to the Book of the Acts of the Apostles, and we get a glimpse of the activities of Paul and Silas in Berea, a small Grecian town about 50 miles from Thessalonica, which possessed considerable population and commerce owing to its natural advantages. As was his custom, Paul took up his operations from the synagogue, though it is reasonable to assume that, as was also his custom, Paul did much work among the Berean Gentiles. In Berea Paul found the Jews "more noble" than those he had left in Thessalonica; probably less bigoted, more liberal and free from prejudice than the Thessalonian Jews had been. Paul attributes their readiness to receive the Gospel message to their habit of searching the Scriptures daily to discover whether the things they were learning were supported by the Word of God. Those who heard Paul preach, and found his message confirmed in the Scriptures, believed, among them a number of Greek women of high standing and many influential men. Before proceeding, let us consider briefly a passage from Paul's letter to the Romans (15:4-6). Here Paul encourages the study of all that had been written before his time, for the Judeo-Christian Scriptures have a world-wide, enduring value and in them we find comfort for our own troubled times and hope for the future, in life and after death.

In his first letter to Timothy (chapter 4, vv. 13-16), Paul exhorts the younger minister to be attentive to his reading and proclamation of the Word, if he would save his own soul and those of his hearers. We turn now to the portion of the lesson drawn from II Timothy, and begin with a recapitulation of Paul's own life as an example of selfless devotion to Christ. Though Timothy was well aware of Paul's background, the Apostle reviewed it and, in 11 words, summed up his experience as a Christian. Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Divisions of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.

He was sound in doctrine, devoted in his manner of life, unserving in purpose, strong in faith, meek in suffering, outgoing in charity, virtuous in patience, enduring under persecution, and humble in his afflictions. In his life Paul was called upon to endure all the hardships which could be visited upon one man. Yet he is able to claim triumphantly, "Out of them all the Lord delivered me."

Using his own life as an example, Paul warns that all who are determined to live a godly life will suffer persecution, but their salvation rests with God. Though evil men seemingly enjoy a life of ease and prosperity, they will go from bad to worse, and for them there is no redemption.

Paul outlines the critical circumstances in which his young friend Timothy will have to exercise his ministry and enjoins him to live in and hold fast to his faith and his saving relationship with the Master. From his childhood he had known the Scriptures, and his life had been built upon the sure faith of the apostles had preached. In the future, suffering would be his lot, even as it had been Paul's, and he would have to rely upon the Scriptures for his strength and encouragement. The standard for man's growth in the Christian life is the Bible which, says Paul, "is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God be complete, and equipped for every good work."

It teaches us those things that man could never discover for himself, but without which he has no grounds for the hope of eternal life. It reproves us for our sins and leads us into God's way, teaching us how to live righteously among men. Paul's wisdom and his counsel to Timothy apply equally to us if we are to continue in the process of growth. This involves, on our parts, that we become well versed in the Bible, which we affirm to be the Word of God, the only infallible rule of faith and practice.

Nasser Is Celebrating His 13 Years in Power

CAIRO (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, senior revolutionary of the Middle East and champion of Arab unity, is celebrating today his 13 years in power.

Nasser, 74, had proclaimed this would be the decisive summer for the Middle East, but the image of Arab unity is broken up like the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle. Egypt is isolated from its neighbors and limping from economic stagnation.

"The past six months and the past few weeks have witnessed the collapse of Nasser's policies in the Middle East, Africa and elsewhere," one diplomatic source in Cairo contends.

But few diplomats or few Arabs expect the defection of the Arab world will be more than a temporary setback for the Socialist leader, Nasser specializes in crises, deftly riding the shifting sands of the Arab world. He has emerged victor from almost every political challenge he has faced since he and 90 fellow officers took control of Egypt in a midnight coup July 23, 1952.

The current challenge is a breakaway from Cairo's leadership of Arab capitals from Algiers to Baghdad.

The overthrow of Ahmed Ben Bella in Algeria and a government shift in Iraq have left Nasser stripped of his major allies. Kuwait, whose foundations of oil make it the financier of the Middle East, walked out of the Arab Common Market and lined up with Saudi Arabia whose King Feisal is one of Nasser's chief adversaries.

Other Arab League members, such as Jordan, Sudan and Lebanon, busy themselves with problems at home. Tunisia, Morocco and Libya pursue their own non-Nasserist ways. Syria maintains a wave of anti-Nasser propaganda.

For the moment, Nasser's only disciple is Yemen, but the cost of maintaining 50,000 Egyptian troops there is a burden.

At home, the mass of Egyptians ignore the shortcomings of Nasser's policies against the Congo and West Germany. They follow Nasser as a hero who has given them dignity and hope and such benefits as land, freed education and medical care.

But in Egypt, the economic challenge is deepening. Grumbling can be heard in cities where factory hands, nationalized workers and government employees have been pampered by the rush into socialism and wealthy pashas and businessmen have been wrung dry.

Food prices have been rising in cooperative shops. A decree ordering three meatless days weekly meant little since few could afford meat. Such simple items as matches are hard to get. The cost of living rose 14 per cent in the past year. Retail prices have jumped 29 per cent in two years.

Nasser's haste in trying to transform Egypt into a modern state, with a massive program of projects and few factories, has drained foreign currency reserves, leaving not enough to buy essential imports.

Some economic experts figure Egypt will never be able to cure its ills by industrialization — or by any other means until Moslem objections to birth control are overcome.

Ninety seven per cent of Egypt is desert. Agricultural production cannot keep up with the growing number of mouths to feed. Nasser admits the benefits of the Soviet-financed Aswan Dam will merely keep pace with the problem and not solve it.

For three years, Nasser has relied on American aid food shipments to keep prices at a level where his people could afford to eat.

Faced with expiration of an aid agreement with the United States, Nasser called off his anti-American campaign and once again is maintaining a carefully neutral balance between East and West.

Rhodes Tour Abroad Set For Nov. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes announced today the dates and itinerary for his proposed trade tour of Europe, covering nine cities in seven countries.

The tour will run Nov. 1-22. Rhodes has named the tour the "All-Ohio Trade Mission to Europe." He plans to accompany the mission on part of its trip.

Designed to attract the state's business and industrial leaders, it will cost each person $1,490. A similar tour planned last year failed to take place.

Rhodes said the tour will stop in London, Rotterdam, Brussels, Dusseldorf, Milan, Turin, Barcelona, Madrid and Lisbon.

He listed some of the mission's purposes as highlighting Ohio commerce and industry, developing more international trade for Ohio, familiarizing Ohioans with overseas markets and opening channels for international business contracts.

There was no indication how many planned to make the tour. The governor's office said space is limited. Last year, the governor planned on about 200.

THE POWER OF THE WORD OF GOD ON THE LIVES OF MEN

Scripture—Acts 17:10-12; Romans 15:14-6; I Timothy 4:13-16; II Timothy 3:10-17.

By R. H. Ramsey
TODAY'S lesson takes us first to the Book of the Acts of the Apostles, and we get a glimpse of the activities of Paul and Silas in Berea, a small Grecian town about 50 miles from Thessalonica, which possessed considerable population and commerce owing to its natural advantages. As was his custom, Paul took up his operations from the synagogue, though it is reasonable to assume that, as was also his custom, Paul did much work among the Berean Gentiles. In Berea Paul found the Jews "more noble" than those he had left in Thessalonica; probably less bigoted, more liberal and free from prejudice than the Thessalonian Jews had been. Paul attributes their readiness to receive the Gospel message to their habit of searching the Scriptures daily to discover whether the things they were learning were supported by the Word of God. Those who heard Paul preach, and found his message confirmed in the Scriptures, believed, among them a number of Greek women of high standing and many influential men.

Before proceeding, let us consider briefly a passage from Paul's letter to the Romans (15:14-6). Here Paul encourages the study of all that had been written before his time, for the Jew and Christian Scriptures have a world-wide, enduring value and in them we find comfort for our own troubled times and hope for the future, in life and after death.

In his first letter to Timothy (chapter 4, vv. 13-16), Paul exhorts the younger minister to be attentive to his reading and proclamation of the Word, if he would save his own soul and those of his hearers.

We turn now to the portion of the lesson drawn from II Timothy, and begin with a recapitulation of Paul's own life as an example of selfless devotion to Christ. Though Timothy was well aware of Paul's background, the Apostle reviewed it and, in 11 words, summed up his experience as a Christian.

Nasser Is Celebrating His 13 Years in Power

CAIRO (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, senior revolutionary of the Middle East and champion of Arab unity, is celebrating today his 13 years in power.

Nasser, 74, had proclaimed this would be the decisive summer for the Middle East, but the image of Arab unity is broken up like the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle. Egypt is isolated from its neighbors and limping from economic stagnation.

"The past six months and the past few weeks have witnessed the collapse of Nasser's policies in the Middle East, Africa and elsewhere," one diplomatic source in Cairo contends.

But few diplomats or few Arabs expect the defection of the Arab world will be more than a temporary setback for the Socialist leader. Nasser specializes in crises, deftly riding the shifting sands of the Arab world. He has emerged victor from almost every political challenge he has faced since he and 90 fellow officers took control of Egypt in a midnight coup July 23, 1952.

The current challenge is a breakaway from Cairo's leadership of Arab capitals from Algiers to Baghdad.

The overthrow of Ahmed Ben Bella in Algeria and a government shift in Iraq have left Nasser stripped of his major allies. Kuwait, whose foundations of oil make it the financier of the Middle East, and lined up with Saudi Arabia whose King Feisal is one of Nasser's chief adversaries.

Other Arab League members, such as Jordan, Sudan and Lebanon, busy themselves with problems at home. Tunisia, Morocco and Libya pursue their own non-Nasserist ways. Syria maintains a wave of anti-Nasser propaganda.

For the moment, Nasser's only disciple is Yemen, but the cost of maintaining 50,000 Egyptian troops there is a burden.

At home, the mass of Egyptians ignore the shortcomings of Nasser's policies against the Congo and West Germany. They follow Nasser as a hero who has given them dignity and hope and such benefits as land, freed education and medical care.

But in Egypt, the economic challenge is deepening. Grumbling can be heard in cities where factory hands, nationalized workers and government employees have been pampered by the rush into socialism and wealthy pashas and businessmen have been wrung dry.

Food prices have been rising in cooperative shops. A decree ordering three meatless days weekly meant little since few could afford meat. Such simple items as matches are hard to get. The cost of living rose 14 per cent in the past year. Retail prices have jumped 29 per cent in two years.

Nasser's haste in trying to transform Egypt into a modern state, with a massive program of projects and few factories, has drained foreign currency reserves, leaving not enough to buy essential imports.

Some economic experts figure Egypt will never be able to cure its ills by industrialization — or by any other means until Momen objections to birth control are overcome.

Ninety seven per cent of Egypt is desert. Agricultural production cannot keep up with the growing number of mouths to feed. Nasser admits the benefits of the Soviet-financed Aswan Dam will merely keep pace with the problem and not solve it.

For three years, Nasser has relied on American aid food shipments to keep prices at a level where his people could afford to eat.

Faced with expiration of an aid agreement with the United States, Nasser called off his anti-American campaign and once again is maintaining a carefully neutral balance between East and West.

Rhodes Tour Abroad Set For Nov. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes announced today the dates and itinerary for his proposed trade tour of Europe, covering nine cities in seven countries.

The tour will run Nov. 1 - 22. Rhodes has named the tour the "All-Ohio Trade Mission to Europe." He plans to accompany the mission on part of its trip.

Designed to attract the state's business and industrial leaders, it will cost each person $1,490. A similar tour planned last year failed to take place.

Rhodes said the tour will stop in London, Rotterdam, Brussels, Dusseldorf, Milan, Turin, Barcelona, Madrid and Lisbon.

He listed some of the mission's purposes as highlighting Ohio commerce and industry, developing more international trade for Ohio, familiarizing Ohioans with overseas markets and opening channels for international business contracts.

There was no indication how many planned to make the tour. The governor's office said space is limited. Last year, the governor planned on about 200.

More Questions, Answers Given On New Social Security Setup

Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of two articles concerning the new Social Security health care proposal.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Here are questions and answers on the increased Social Security benefits and other welfare provisions in the Social Security health care bill:

Q. I am over 65 and receiving a Social Security retirement check. What increase does the bill make in that?

A. A 7 per cent increase, retroactive to Jan. 1 this year, with an increase of at least 4 guaranteed. The 7 per cent also goes to families under the survivor program and disabled persons receiving Social Security payments.

Q. When will I get the increases?

A. It is planned to reflect the monthly increase for the first time in your September check, which you will receive about Oct. 3. The retroactive payments for the first eight months of the year, through August, are scheduled to go out in separate checks about Sept. 15.

Q. Does the bill increase the amount I may earn and still retain my Social Security benefits?

A. Yes. Under present law, you may earn up to $1,200 a year without loss of benefits; between $1,200 and $1,000, you lose 1 for each 2 of benefits. Under the bill you will be allowed to earn up to $1,500 without loss of benefits; from $1,500 to $2,700, you lose $1 in benefits for each $2 earned.

Q. Is a widow permitted to start receiving Social Security benefits at an earlier age under the bill?

A. Yes. She could go on the rolls at age 60 instead of age 62, the present minimum. But her monthly payment would be reduced to take account of the longer number of years she would receive it.

Q. Is it easier for disabled persons to qualify for Social Security benefits under the bill?

A. Yes. Present law limits payments to those whose disability is of long-continued and indefinite duration and or is expected to result in death. The bill loosens up this definition so that benefits will be paid if the disability has lasted 12 months or can be expected to last that long.

Q. I am a widow receiving survivor payments under Social Security because I have children under 1. Does the bill extend these benefits?

A. Yes. The bill would continue payments for each child up to age 22 so long as he is a full-time student in college or other school.

Q. Does the bill provide any Social Security benefits for aged persons with only a slight amount of working credits under the system?

A. It would blanket under the system men and women workers and widows with as few as three quarters of credits. They would get a basic benefit of 35 a month. The present minimum credit requirement is six quarters. Quarters are three-month periods.

Q. How does the bill affect Social Security benefits of farmers?

A. Low-income farmers would be allowed to accumulate higher credits than now available, and thus to qualify for higher benefits. A farmer with gross earnings of $2,400 or less would be allowed to report $1,600 as his net income, and thus as the base for his Social Security taxes, even though his net income was less than that. Under present law, if his gross earnings are $1,800 or less, he may report $1,200 as net income even though the net is below that.

Q. Does the bill bring any additional groups under Social Security?

A. About 170,000 self-employed physicians will be covered, effective Dec. 31, 1965. They are the only major occupational group not now in the system.

Q. How is income from tips affected by the bill?

A. Waiters, bartenders and others who receive income from tips will report it to the employer, who will make the appropriate paycheck withholding for income tax purposes and Social Security. But the employer is not obliged to match the tip income in his share of the Social Security tax, and is not responsible under the Social Security law if the employee does not report the tips to him.

Q. Will a widow who remarries find her status changed by the bill?

A. Yes. Under the law now she loses Social Security benefits based on her first husband's earnings when she remarries. But the bill contains a special provision enabling her to retain some benefits, at a rate of 50 per cent of her first husband's primary benefit instead of the 82.5 per cent available if she did not remarry.

Q. Does the bill grant exemption to any groups on religious grounds?

A. The Amish and other sects conscientiously opposed to acceptance of the benefits of any public or private insurance program, who long have sought exemption, finally will attain it in this bill.

Q. What would be the increase in Social Security taxes to pay for the increased benefits under the present system and the new basic health program?

A. The taxable base, now $4,800 a year, will be increased to $6,600 next year. The combined tax rate for the present old age, survivors and disability program and the new health plan would be 4.2 per cent each for the employer and employee next year, rising to 5.65 per cent by 1987. For the self-employed, the combined rate would be 6.15 per cent next year, reaching 7.8 per cent in 1987. The current rate of 3.625 per cent each for employer and employee would go up to 4.125 per cent next year under present law; the self-employed rate, now 5.4 per cent, would increase to 6.2 per cent next year under present law. For an employee earning at least $6,600 a year, the tax next year would be $277.20 compared to the $174 he pays in 1965.

Q. I am an old person receiving a welfare payment under the public assistance program. Will the bill make any difference in these checks?

A. It contains additional federal funds for all the public assistance programs so that payments can be increased about $2.50 a month to the needy aged, blind and disabled and about $1.25 a month for needy children. The payments are up to the states and local welfare officials, but the bill provides that the new federal money will be available only to the extent it is passed along to individual recipients.

Q. How about aged persons who are patients in hospitals for tuberculosis and mental diseases?

A. The bill for the first time allows federal matching under the old age assistance program for such persons. It requires as a condition for federal participation in such payments that better care must result from the federal funds.

Q. What changes are made in the Kerr-Mills program for the medically indigent — those who are not necessarily on old age assistance but are unable to pay their medical bills?

A. Benefits under this now vary widely between the states, with some not participating at all. The bill provides increased federal funds and requires that a participating state must furnish at least a basic minimum of services including hospitalization and doctors' fees. Eligibility standards will have to be liberalized to cover many additional persons in most states. Kerr-Mills will be extended to the other categories on the public assistance rolls — the blind, disabled and dependent children.

In an emergency the value of medicine can hardly be reckoned in dollars. Medicine is priceless when needed. Yet it is an interesting fact that nationally the average cost of a pharmaceutical prescription is about $2.50 — and more than half of all prescriptions cost less than $2.00. Litter Crowds Fish

NEW YORK (AP) — Fishermen are warned against crowding game fish out of the water with litter.

C. R. Guterth, chairman of Keep America Beautiful's national advisory council, estimates that some 50 million people in the U. S. will go fishing this year.

"Each of these anglers, if he were a litterbug, would dump about a pound of rubbish into our streams, lakes and salt water — or along the shores," Mr. Guterth said. "That adds up to a potential of 50 million pounds of rubbish in a single season. At that rate, we would have more litter than fish."

The payments are up to the states and local welfare officials, but the bill provides that the new federal money will be available only to the extent it is passed along to individual recipients.

Q. How about aged persons who are patients in hospitals for tuberculosis and mental diseases?

A. The bill for the first time allows federal matching under the old age assistance program for such persons. It requires as a condition for federal participation in such payments that better care must result from the federal funds.

Q. What changes are made in the Kerr-Mills program for the medically indigent — those who are not necessarily on old age assistance but are unable to pay their medical bills?

A. Benefits under this now vary widely between the states, with some not participating at all. The bill provides increased federal funds and requires that a participating state must furnish at least a basic minimum of services including hospitalization and doctors' fees. Eligibility standards will have to be liberalized to cover many additional persons in most states. Kerr-Mills will be extended to the other categories on the public assistance rolls — the blind, disabled and dependent children.

Unorthodox Aaron Leads Braves Rush

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If Hank Aaron ever decides to get in step with the rest of the world the Milwaukee Braves are in trouble.

Putting his wrong foot forward as usual and playing despite an upset stomach, Aaron hammered his fourth homer in as many games as the Braves stretched their winning streak to 10 by whipping the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers 5-2 Thursday night.

Aaron, who was forced out of the game in the seventh inning, has been Mr. Consistent for the Braves during their streak, hitting safely in nine out of the 10 games for a .412 batting average with the four homers and 11 runs batted in.

And the 31-year-old right-handed slugger, who went into the season with a .320 lifetime average, still hits all wrong.

Billy Herman, currently managing Boston but once a coach with the Braves, probably explained Aaron's manipulations at the plate best.

"He hits off his front foot and still gets so much power," Herman said. "That's against all rules of batting. But although he hits all wrong, he still manages to generate all that power, because even when he overstrides, his body and arms remain back."

Aaron actually provided the only runs the Braves needed against the Dodgers, tagging a three-run homer in the first inning off Bob Miller after singles by Felipe Alou and Mack Jones. Rico Carly also hit a homer in the first as Tony Cloninger brought his record to 12-8 with Billy O'Dell's relief help.

The victory moved the Braves to within three games of the Dodgers while the second-place Cincinnati Reds closed to within 2½ of the top by disposing of Warren Spahn in the third inning en route to a 5-4 victory over San Francisco.

Elsewhere, Ed Bailey slammed two homers, including a grand slam, and two singles for eight runs batted in as the Chicago Cubs walloped Philadelphia 10-5, and 18-year-old Larry Dierke pitched Houston to a 3-2 victory over St. Louis with a five-hitter.

In the American League, Minnesota rapped Boston 11-5, Kansas City belted Baltimore 9-2, the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1 and Washington downed the Los Angeles Angels 5-1.

Spahn, 44-year-old left-hander acquired from the New York Mets, made his first start for the Giants and was jumped on by Cincinnati for three runs, three hits and two walks in 2 1/3 innings. One of the hits off Spahn, who was not involved in the final decision, was a homer by Pete Rose.

The Reds trailed 4-3 before Tony Perez pulled them into a tie with a homer in the eighth inning, then drove in the winning run in the ninth with a bases-loaded grounder.

Bailey led a 15-hit Cub attack that also included a homer by Ernie Banks. Johnny Callison hit two homers for the Phillies and Johnny Briggs one.

Dierker, bringing his record to 4-4, was tagged for a first inning triple by Dick Groat, then did not permit another hit until the seventh en route to his first complete game in the majors. Bob Aspromonte's two-run single in the sixth put the Astros ahead to stay 3-1.

All-Star QB Supply Is Plentiful

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Otto Graham is like the little old lady in the shoe. He has so many good quarterbacks for the College All-Star football game with the National Football League champion Cleveland Browns Aug. 6 that he doesn't know what to do.

Graham, in his eighth All-Star stand against the NFL champions in the midsummer classic at Chicago's Soldier Field, has to choose between John Huarte of Notre Dame, Roger Staubach of Navy, Bob Timberlake of Michigan and Craig Morton of California.

"Which one do I start," was the question Brown posed Thursday at the All-Star camp at Northwestern University.

"The quarterback that starts is the big gamble in our strategy," said Graham.

"That starter must be given a good chance, even if he gets off badly. Then, if you put in another quarterback, you have to wait to see if he can do a good job. If you need to try a third man or a fourth man the game may be over before you give them a chance to prove they should have started in the first place."

Although the pros hold a 19-2 edge in the series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Graham's know-how in the play-for-pay game has made the collegians far less than sitting ducks in recent games.

In 1963, his All-Stars upset the might Green Bay Packers 20-17. Last year, they gave the Chicago Bears a scare before losing 28-17.

Purina, Coke Post Victories In Little Loop

The Purina Chows downed The Herald Hawks, 10-8, and the Coke Jets dumped the league - leading Bingman Drugs, 2-1, last night in the Little League majors.

Rod Kassler picked up the win for the Chows on the mound as he scattered nine hits with no walks issued.

Tom Wickerham started for the Hawks and was relieved by Dennis Jackson. Together they gave up nine hits.

Tod Conrad and D. Zwyer hammered homers for the winners. Kassler blasted a triple.

JIM NEAL and Harold Smith collected four baggers for the Hawks and Ian Griffey biffed a triple.

John Hunt collected the mound win for the Jets as he issued one walk, fanned seven and was touched for three hits.

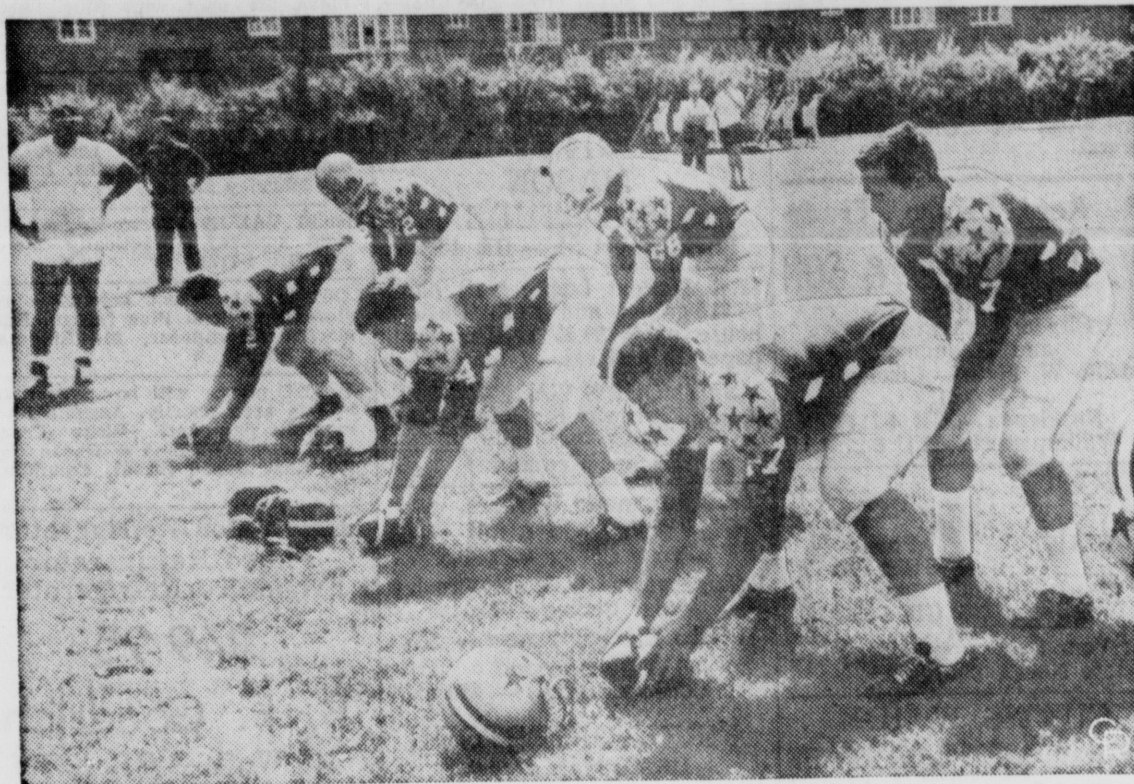

Richard Radcliff was the losing pitcher. He walked four, struck out 10 and was bombed for five hits.

Rich Speakman and Gregg Heiskell powered the long balls for the winners with doubles.

Chris Long led Bingman's three hit attack with a three bagger. Mark Davy blasted a double.

The Jet's first tally came in the second as Hunt drove in Lutz. In the fourth Long slashed a riple in the right center to drive in Rick Blankenship for the Druggists only score. The winning run came in the sixth as Heiskell drove in Hunt for the Jets.

Gary Klingensmith, Penn State halfback the last three seasons, will coach Gallaudet College's team next season. It is a school for the deaf in Washington, D.C.

Pony League Tilts Close

Kochheiser edged the Savings Bank 17-16 and Third National dropped VFW, 4-3, last night in the Pony League.

The League now stands knotted with VFW and Third National claiming first place with 7-4 slates. A half - game behind is The Savings Bank, boasting six wins and five losses. Kochheiser remains the cellar dweller with two wins in 11 games.

Two games remain, with Third National battling Kochheiser at 5:15 p. m. Monday on the Babe Ruth diamond at the Fairgrounds. The Savings Bank plays VFW the following night at the same field.

Kochheiser's big punch came in the fifth frame. The Bankers were a head, 16-7, when the Hardwaremen collected 10 runs. The winners shut out the losers for the rest of the game.

STEVE THOMAS and Ronnie Stevens pitched for Kochheiser. They scattered 15 bingles.

Dave McCain, Dave Dresbach and Hettinger shared the mound duties for the losers.

Kochheiser's 13 - hit attack was led by Steve Thomas as he tagged a homer for the winners. Extra power was supplied by Darrell Bass and Steve McGinnis as they hammered three - baggers. Mike Rhodes and Randy Martin collected doubles.

Dresbach belted a three-sacker for the Savings Bank. Hettinger and Graham popped two baggers.

It took the Third Bankers eight frames to stop the Vets. Fausnaugh scored he winning run as he walked, pilfered second and third, and came home after a pickoff attempt at third failed.

Fausnaugh was also the winning hurler. He struck out 11 and scattered three hits.

BRYCE BROWN took the mound loss for the Vets as he whiffed 13 and was touched for only two bingles.

Dick Walters collected all of the winners' hits as he blasted

Rotary Rallies For 10-6 Win

The Rotary Little League Minor baseball team scored a come-from-behind victory last night over Second National Bank, 10-6.

The Bankers went ahead in the second inning with a two-run effort after both teams had scored once in the first inning.

In the third the losers scored three more, while blanking Rotary in the second, third and fourth frames.

Then the Rotary team began to move. Four consecutive bases on balls tied the game in the sixth inning after the Rotarians and tallied four in the fifth.

RANDY Young, Rotary pitcher, won his own game with a grand slam home run.

Craig Lund and Kent Wolfe were also credited with four-bag blows for the winners. Kirk Brown tripled for the losers.

Rick Metcalf was the losing pitcher. He walked 10, fanned 10 and was touched for four hits.

Young walked eight and fanned 10. He allowed four hits.

Girls Team Wins Tilt

Circleville Girls' Softball teams No. 1 and No. 4 battled this week at the Teays Valley ball diamond, with team No. 4 winning its first game of the season, 20-18.

Next games in the Girls loop will be Thursday night at Teays Valley.

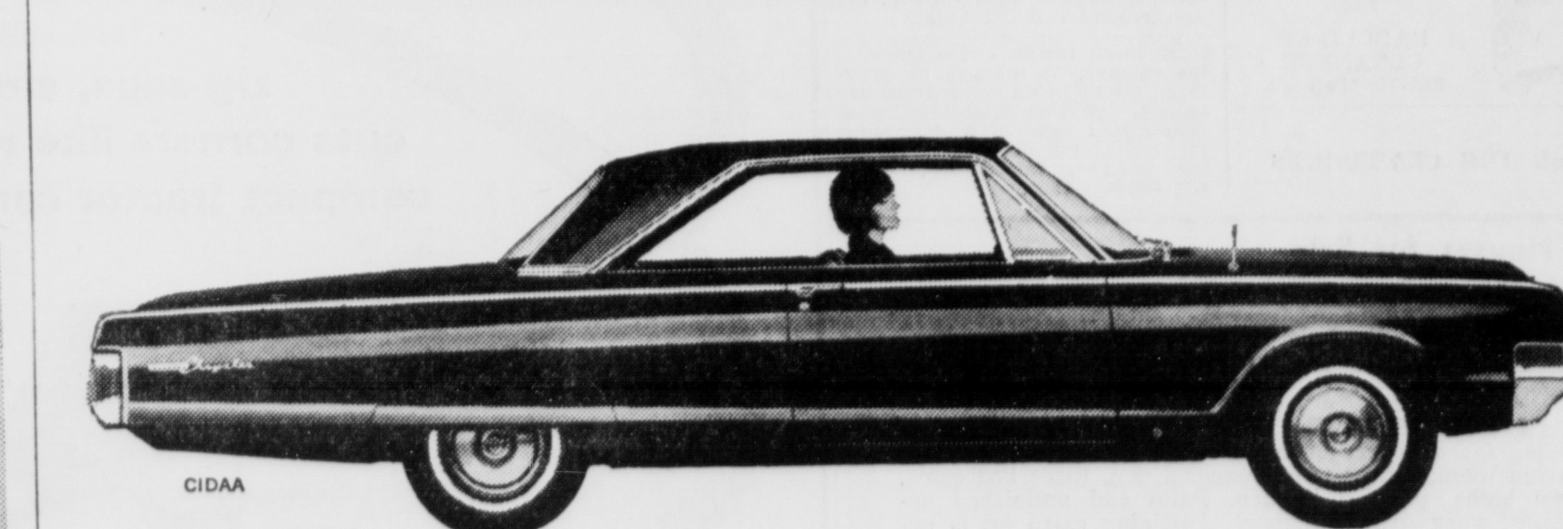

BORROWED POLE — Mert Compton, W. High St., went fishing at Rocky Fork Lake yesterday with Leonard Eblin, 245 Edward Road. He borrowed Eblin's fishing pole and promptly landed this "husky muskie." The muskie measured 40 inches and weighed 17-pounds 5-ounces.

Keg Team, Cook Insurance Win Mosquito League Games

Prairie Lanes swept past Mac's Goodyear, 19-5, and Cook Insurance edged Archer Sporting Goods, 5-1, in yesterday's Mosquito League play.

Mark McFadden started for Prairie Lanes and was the winning pitcher. In four innings, he allowed one hit and walked three, setting down four batters by strikeouts.

Tim Wagner went the last two innings for the Bowlers. He allowed one hit, walked two and fanned two.

Ramsey was the losing pitcher for Mac's as Prairie Lanes parleyed nine hits and 10 walks into a 19-run output.

WAGNER, Thomas, Jenkins and Roberts were the big hitters for the winners. Wagner had three safeties, including a double and a triple. Thomas belted a homerun, Jenkin's a triple and a single and Roberts two singles.

The winners scored three runs in the fi inning, compared to two for the Goodyear team, and never trailed. Their big inning came in the fourth when 10 runners crossed home-plate safely.

Assisting Ramsey with the Mac pitching duties were Blankenship and Rock Edgington. The trio was credited with five strikeouts.

Archers scored first in the game with Cooks, but was shutout after the second inning. Cooks tied the score in the bottom of the fourth and took the lead with four runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Rex Riddle was the winning pitcher. He relieved Jamie Brown who hurled three innings of hitless ball, walked five and fanned five. Riddle also was credited with a three-inning no-hit effort.

John Radcliff was the losing pitcher. He went the entire game for Archers, walking 11, fanning eight and allowing three hits.

WITH Cook Insurance picking up their seventh win in nine starts, the Mosquito League is assured of ending in a three-way tie for first place.

The Knights of Columbus have also completed their season with a 7-2 record. Hill Implement and Circleville Lumber, both with 6-2 records, clash tonight. The winner of this game will own a share of first place in the league.

Next week a tournament will be played in the Mosquito League.

Redlegs To Remain In Cincy for While

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds will remain in Cincinnati for at least six more seasons, according to William O. DeWitt, owner of the National League baseball club.

DeWitt made the announcement Thursday after the city agreed to provide additional parking spaces at Crosley Field. Plans call for razing of a block south of the ballpark.

Rookie outfielder Ken Berry of the Chicago White Sox had brief trials with the palehose each year since 1962.

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Otto Graham is like the little old lady in the shoe. He has so many good quarterbacks for the College All-Star football game with the National Football League champion Cleveland Browns Aug. 6 that he doesn't know what to do.

Graham, in his eighth All-Star stand against the NFL champions in the midsummer classic at Chicago's Soldier Field, has to choose between John Huarte of Notre Dame, Roger Staubach of Navy, Bob Timberlake of Michigan and Craig Morton of California.

"Which one do I start," was the question Brown posed Thursday at the All-Star camp at Northwestern University.

"The quarterback that starts is the big gamble in our strategy," said Graham.

"That starter must be given a good chance, even if he gets off badly. Then, if you put in another quarterback, you have to wait to see if he can do a good job. If you need to try a third man or a fourth man the game may be over before you give them a chance to prove they should have started in the first place."

Although the pros hold a 19-2 edge in the series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Graham's know-how in the play-for-pay game has made the collegians far less than sitting ducks in recent games.

In 1963, his All-Stars upset the might Green Bay Packers 20-17. Last year, they gave the Chicago Bears a scare before losing 28-17.

Purina, Coke Post Victories In Little Loop

The Purina Chows downed The Herald Hawks, 10-8, and the Coke Jets dumped the league - leading Bingman Drugs, 2-1, last night in the Little League majors.

Rod Kassler picked up the win for the Chows on the mound as he scattered nine hits with no walks issued.

Tom Wickerham started for the Hawks and was relieved by Dennis Jackson. Together they gave up nine hits.

Tod Conrad and D. Zwyer hammered homers for the winners. Kassler blasted a triple.

JIM NEAL and Harold Smith collected four baggers for the Hawks and Ian Griffey biffed a triple.

John Hunt collected the mound win for the Jets as he issued one walk, fanned seven and was touched for three hits.

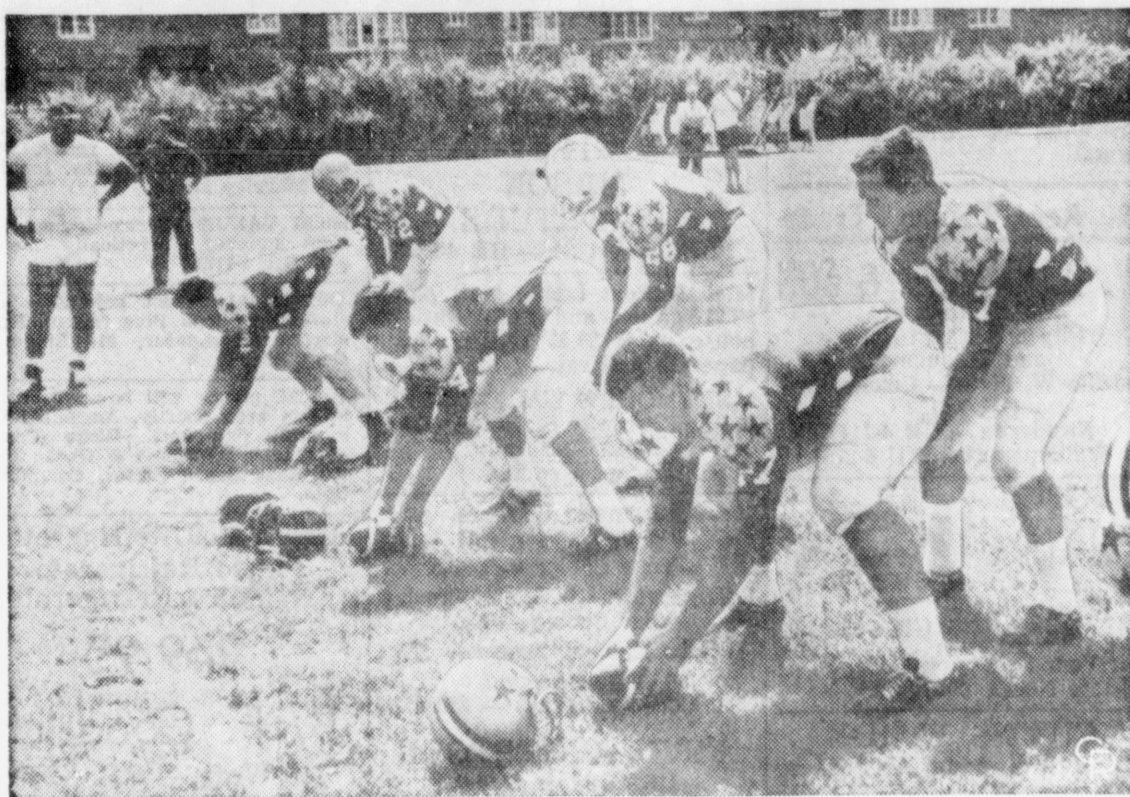

Richard Radcliff was the losing pitcher. He walked four, struck out 10 and was bombed for five hits.

Rich Speakman and Gregg Heiskell powered the long balls for the winners with doubles.

Chris Long led Bingman's three hit attack with a three bagger. Mark Davy blasted a double.

The Jet's first tally came in the second as Hunt drove in Lutz. In the fourth Long slashed a riple in the right center to drive in Rick Blankenship for the Drugists only score. The winning run came in the sixth as Heiskell drove in Hunt for the Jets.

Gary Klingensmith, Penn State halfback the last three seasons, will coach Gallaudet College's team next season. It is a school for the deaf in Washington, D.C.

Pony League Tilts Close

Kochheiser edged the Savings Bank 17-16 and Third National dropped VFW, 4-3, last night in the Pony League.

The League now stands knotted with VFW and Third National claiming first place with 7-4 slates. A half - game behind is The Savings Bank, boasting six wins and five losses. Kochheiser remains the cellar dweller with two wins in 11 games.

Two games remain, with Third National battling Kochheiser at 5:15 p. m. Monday on the Babe Ruth diamond at the Fairgrounds. The Savings Bank plays VFW the following night at the same field.

Kochheiser's big punch came in the fifth frame. The Bankers were ahead, 16-7, when the Hardwaremen collected 10 runs. The winners shut out the losers for the rest of the game.

STEVE THOMAS and Ronnie Stevens pitched for Kochheiser. They scattered 15 bingles.

Dave McCain, Dave Dresbach and Hettinger shared the mound duties for the losers.

Kochheiser's 13 - hit attack was led by Steve Thomas as he tagged a homer for the winners. Extra power was supplied by Darrell Bass and Steve McGinnis as they hammered three - baggers. Mike Rhodes and Randy Martin collected doubles.

Dresbach belted a three-sacker for the Savings Bank. Hettinger and Graham popped two baggers.

It took the Third Bankers eight frames to stop the Vets. Fausnaugh scored he winning run as he walked, pilfered second and third, and came home after a pickoff attempt at third failed.

Fausnaugh was also the winning hurler. He struck out 11 and scattered three hits.

BRYCE BROWN took the mound loss for the Vets as he whiffed 13 and was touched for only two bingles.

Dick Walters collected all of the winners' hits as he blasted

a double and a single in four trips.

Greg White and Gary Boltenhouse tagged two sackers for VFW.

BORROWED POLE — Mert Compton, W. High St., went fishing at Rocky Fork Lake yesterday with Leonard Eblin, 245 Edward Road. He borrowed Eblin's fishing pole and promptly landed this "hucky muskie." The muskie measured 40 inches and weighed 17-pounds 5-ounces.

Rotary Rallies For 10-6 Win

The Rotary Little League Minor baseball team scored a come-from-behind victory last night over Second National Bank, 10-6.

The Bankers went ahead in the second inning with a two-run effort after both teams had scored once in the first inning.

In the third the losers scored three more, while blanking Rotary in the second, third and fourth frames.

Then the Rotary team began to move. Four consecutive bases on balls tied the game in the sixth inning after the Rotarians and tallied four in the fifth.

RANDY Young, Rotary pitcher, won his own game with a grand slam home run.

Craig Lund and Kent Wolfe were also credited with four-bag blows for the winners. Kirk Brown tripled for the losers.

Rick Metcalf was the losing pitcher. He walked 10, fanned 10 and was touched for four hits.

Young walked eight and fanned 10. He allowed four hits.

Girls Team Wins Tilt

Circleville Girls' Softball teams No. 1 and No. 4 battled this week at the Teays Valley ball diamond, with team No. 4 winning its first game of the season, 20-18.

Next games in the Girls loop will be Thursday night at Teays Valley.

Keg Team, Cook Insurance Win Mosquito League Games

Prairie Lanes swept past Mac's Goodyear, 19-5, and Cook Insurance edged Archer Sporting Goods, 5-1, in yesterday's Mosquito League play.

Mark McFadden started for Prairie Lanes and was the winning pitcher. In four in nings, he allowed one hit and wal'ed three, setting down four batters by strikeouts.

Tim Wagner went the last two innings for the Bowlers. He allowed one hit, walked two and fanned two.

Ramsey was the losing pitcher fo. Mac's as Prairie Lanes parleyed nine hits and 10 walks into a 19-run output.

WAGNER, Thomas, Jenkins and Roberts were the big hitters for the winners. Wagner had three safeties, including a double and a triple. Thomas belted a homerun, Jenkin's a triple and a single and Roberts two singles.

The winners scored three runs in the fi. inning, compared to two for the Goodyear team, and never trailed. Their big inning came in the fourth when 10 runners crossed home-plate safely.

Assisting Ramsey with the Mac pitching duties were Blankenship and Rock Edgington. The trio was credited with five strikeouts.

Archers scored first in the game with Cooks, but was shutout after the second inning. Cooks tied the score in the bottom of the fourth and took the lead with four runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Rex Riddle was the winning pitcher. He relieved Jamie Brown who hurled three innings of hitless ball, walked five and fanned five. Riddle also was credited with a three-inning no-hit effort.

John Radcliff was the losing pitcher. He went the entire game for Archers, walking 11, fanning eight and allowing three hits.

With Cook Insurance picking up their seventh win in nine starts, the Mosquito League is assured of ending in a three-way tie for first place. The Knights of Columbus have also completed their season with a 7-2 record. Hill Implement and Circleville Lumber, both with 6-2 records, clash tonight. The winner of this game will own a share of first place in the league.

Next week a tournament will be played in the Mosquito League.

Redlegs To Remain In Cincy for While

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds will remain in Cincinnati for at least six more seasons, according to William O. DeWitt, owner of the National League baseball club.

DeWitt made the announcement Thursday after the city agreed to provide additional parking spaces at Crosley Field. Plans call for razing of a block south of the ballpark.

Rookie outfielder Ken Berry of the Chicago White Sox had brief trials with the palehose each year since 1962.

Ohio Fishing Chances Said 'Just Fair'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Prospects for weekend fishermen are "just fair," says the Ohio Division of Wildlife. At this time of year, division specialists say, it requires "know how" and persistence to obtain angling success.

The report on conditions by districts:

DISTRICT 1, CENTRAL — No outstanding catches reported. Lakes are clear and normal, however, where some fish are being taken are Kiser, Buckeye, Hoover and Griggs reservoirs. Most streams clear and low but few fishermen out.

DISTRICT 2, NORTHWEST — Major streams including Sandusky and Maumee rivers in fair condition, some fish being caught. Among lakes best bets Harrison, Oxbow and Killdeer ponds.

DISTRICT 3, NORTHEAST — Most lakes and streams report normal water conditions but few fish caught. Clendening continues to produce some large flathead catfish, the largest this week a 43-pounder. Bass, bluegills also biting fairly well.

Stream fishing getting very little pressure.

DISTRICT 4, SOUTHEAST — Most productive lakes are Burr Oak, Piedmont, Dow, Monroe. Streams with best possibility are Muskingum and Little Muskingum, Paint Creek parts of Little Hocking. No outstanding catches reported.

DISTRICT 5, SOUTHWEST — Lakes fair to good are Rocky Fork, Englewood Dam, Grant, Clark, Stonelick. Bass, bluegills, catfish make up most of catches. Among streams, are Caesar Creek, Great Miami, Stillwater, Little Miami mostly clear, normal. Fishing pressure low.

LAKE ERIE — SANDUSKY BAY — White bass continue most prominent, large numbers of perch, sheepshead also being taken. The island area seems best and some smallmouth bass continue to bite in deeper water. Most are taken on small crawfish and minnows. Channel catfish still doing fairly well in Sandusky Bay and around the islands.

Kempton Named As OU Sports Information Aide

Dave Kempton, sports editor of the Portsmouth Times since February, has been appointed assistant sports information director at Ohio University.

Ohio U. Athletic Director Bill Rohr made the announcement regarding the 23-year-old Athens native and said Kempton will assist sports information director Frank Morgan.

Kempton attended Ohio U. two years, then became sports editor of the Chillicothe Gazette in 1961.

Perez Helps Redlegs To Nip Giants

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Tony Perez says if he had his way, "I would be playing every day. I don't mind the platooning, but I'd like to play all the time."

The 22-year-old rookie first baseman drove in the tying and winning runs Thursday as the Cincinnati Reds nipped the Giants at San Francisco 5-4.

The victory halted the Reds' three-game losing streak and enabled them to move into Houston still in second place in the National League. Cincinnati opens a three-game series tonight with the Astros.

Perez, a right-handed batter, is platooned at first base with veteran Gordy Coleman.

After the Reds lost a 4-3 lead against the Giants, Perez tied it 4-4 with his seventh home run in the eighth inning. Then in the ninth, he dropped a bases-loaded single into deep sort that scored Tommy Harper.

The Reds also played the pitching of Jim Maloney, the relief hurling of Billy McCool and a spectacular leaping catch by Harper in the ninth inning for their second victory over the Giants this season.

With a man on base, Willie Mays lined a shot into left centerfield that appeared to be a homer. But Harper dashed back, crashed into the wall and came down with the ball.

Patty Berg Quits Golf Tournament

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran Patty Berg has been forced to withdraw from the $10,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament which opened today.

Miss Berg, 47, said she could not participate because of exhaustion. She played Thursday in a warmup pro-am event and shot a 72, but said afterwards: "I played in four straight tournaments up to this one. I hadn't played in two straight for I don't know how long. I just feel like I'm dehydrated."

Kathy Whitworth and Carol Mann, the women's top two money winners, were rated as favorites for the tourney, which ends Sunday. It is being played over Cloverbrook Country Club's 6,200-yard hilly layout with a par of 36-3-72.

Marcelino (Lefty) Lopez, sensational 21-year-old rookie pitcher with the Los Angeles Angels, was the first American League hurler to win six games this year.

Infielder Larry Brown of the Cleveland Indians is the young brother of catcher Dick Brown with the Baltimore Orioles.

Ohio Fishing Chances Said 'Just Fair'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Prospects for weekend fishermen are "just fair," says the Ohio Division of Wildlife. At this time of year, division specialists say, it requires "know how" and persistence to obtain angling success.

The report on conditions by districts:

DISTRICT 1, CENTRAL — No outstanding catches reported. Lakes are clear and normal, however, where some fish are being taken are Kiser, Buckeye, Hoover and Griggs reservoirs. Most streams clear and low but few fishermen out.

DISTRICT 2, NORTHWEST-ERN—Major streams including Sandusky and Maumee rivers in fair condition, some fish being caught. Among lakes best bets Harrison, Oxbow and Killdeer ponds.

DISTRICT 3, NORTHEAST-ERN — Most lakes and streams report normal water conditions but few fish caught. Clendening continues to produce some large flathead catfish, the largest this week a 43-pounder. Bass, bluegills also biting fairly well.

Stream fishing getting very little pressure.

DISTRICT 4, SOUTHEAST-ERN — Most productive lakes are Burr Oak, Piedmont, Dow, Monroe. Streams with best possibility are Muskingum and Little Muskingum, Paint Creek parts of Little Hocking. No outstanding catches reported.

DISTRICT 5, SOUTHWEST-ERN — Lakes fair to good are Rocky Fork, Englewood Dam, Grant, Clark, Stonelick. Bass, bluegills, catfish make up most of catches. Among streams, are Caesar Creek, Great Miami, Stillwater, Little Miami mostly clear, normal. Fishing pressure low.

LAKE ERIE — SANDUSKY BAY—White bass continue most prominent, large numbers of perch, sheepshead also being taken. The island area seems best and some smallmouth bass continue to bite in deeper water. Most are taken on small crawfish and minnows. Channel catfish still doing fairly well in Sandusky Bay and around the islands.

Top Golfers Serious About 'Exhibition'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the Professional Golfers Association considers the National Challenge Golf Match an exhibition, the three pros and three amateurs taking part in the 72-hole event have other feelings.

"Certainly I'm serious about it," U.S. Open champ Gary Player said after shooting a first round 69 Thursday and taking a one-stroke lead over amateur Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va. "Wouldn't you be serious for $20,000?" he asked.

The winner of the four-day match ending Sunday gets $20,000, second-place pro wins $17,000 and third-place pro receives $13,000.

Arnold Palmer shot a 71 over the 6,834-yard par 353—71 Lakewood Country Club course while Jack Nicklaus came in with a 72 to tie amateur Deane Beman. Del Morey of High Point, N.C., the third amateur bogeyed three of the first four holes and shot 74.

"I'm serious about it because I need the competition," Palmer said. "And none of us like to lose. We always try to beat each other no matter what we're playing in."

"Sure I want to win," Nicklaus echoed after a round in which he shot only one birdie and two bogeys.

Cincy Truck Driver Strike End Sighted

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two of the city's largest contractors signed agreements with the Teamsters Union Thursday night after a 36-hour bargaining session, raising hopes for a quick end to the six-week-old strike.

The strike of dump truck and cement truck drivers employed by more than 70 companies in a six-county area of Ohio and northern Kentucky has tied up highway and urban renewal construction for weeks.

Almost 100 drivers of Hilltop Concrete Co. and Klawietr Trucking Co. went back to work today.

About 500 other drivers stayed on strike, but their employers—69 different firms—are scheduled to meet Monday with the Teamsters in the presence of federal mediators.

More than 1,000 drivers walked off their jobs when Teamsters Local 100 first called the strike, but many have returned to work as the union reached agreement with various individual companies.

Cleveland Faces Top Teams in AL

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, who have been slipping steadily since the All-Star break, will have to beat the top teams in the league if they are going to move into contention for the pennant.

Of the 71 remaining games, 47 are against the top teams—seven each against Minnesota and Baltimore, 10 each against New York.

Against the rest of the teams in the league it will be Los Angeles eight games, Kansas City, seven, Washington five and Boston four.

The Yankees are in town tonight to open a four-game weekend series. The Tribe faces the White Sox three times next week, then hits the road for a three-game series in New York.

Free Speech Assured on BG Campus

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green State University has adopted a resolution saying the freedom of political expression on campus is essential.

The resolution, adopted by Bowling Green trustees Thursday, "merely sharpens policies under which we have been operating," said President William J. Jerome III.

Trustees, acting after the Faculty Senate suggested such a resolution, asked Jerome to draw up a set of rules and regulations consistent with the resolution.

Dr. Melvin Hyman, senate chairman, termed the trustees' action "a step in the right direction to continue the freedom of political expression we have always enjoyed at Bowling Green."

The trustees also approved an operating budget of $13.1 million for the 1965-66 school year and a $1 million capital improvement budget, including $1.8 million for an education building, two more buildings in a science complex and other improvements.

Tehan Quits As Pro Grid Whistleman

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dan (The Man) Tehan, who has combined successful careers as a county sheriff and a National Football League official, is giving up the officiating.

Tehan, an NFL official 35 years—longer than anyone else—announced Thursday he is retiring from active field duty and will become an observer of officials for the NFL.

"It is not a snoopy job," said Tehan, "but reporting the situation on the field for the betterment of the NFL officiating."

Tehan was the head linesman in the league's first championship game in 1933 between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears. Thirty years later, in 1963, he officiated in another championship game between the same clubs.

Tehan has also been a basketball official 25 years for the Southeastern Conference.

He still is sheriff of Hamilton County, a job to which he has been elected for 16 years although he is a Democrat in this normally Republican stronghold.

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors and aerospace issues were strong in a rising stock market early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to point or more were the general rule among key stocks.

It was the market's strongest demonstration of an uptrend this week, when other temporary rises have all been abortive. It came as Wall Street still waited some statement as to what U.S. policy would result from the high-level conferences taking place in Washington about Viet Nam.

The aerospace stocks gained as conviction spread that a greater military effort and more defense spending would be the outcome of the talks.

Meanwhile, auto stocks attracted buyers because of Ford's records for sales and earnings in the second quarter and first half and because of peak car sales for the big three automakers in the latest reporting period.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 318.6 with industrials up .3, rails up .1 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.90 at 865.67.

Americans here did not seem upset by the rough, battle field justice dispensed by the security police.

"This is a rough area around here," one said.

"The Viet Cong are everywhere. This is how the Vietnamese security people handle them when they are caught."

U.S. sources said the 34-year-old woman had worked for several months at the base, washing the clothing of U.S. helicopter personnel and sometimes tending their barracks.

About 70 Vietnamese women work in various jobs at the Soc Trang helicopter base. At least one other Viet Cong agent has been discovered working there. Meanwhile, the United States

Top Golfers Serious About 'Exhibition'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the Professional Golfers Association considers the National Challenge Golf Match an exhibition, the three pros and three amateurs taking part in the 72-hole event have other feelings.

"Certainly I'm serious about it," U.S. Open champ Gary Player said after shooting a first round 69 Thursday and taking a one-stroke lead over amateur Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va. "Wouldn't you be serious for $20,000?" he asked.

The winner of the four-day match ending Sunday gets $20,000, second-place pro wins $17,000 and third-place pro receives $13,000.

Arnold Palmer shot a 71 over the 6,834-yard par 353-71 Lakewood Country Club course while Jack Nicklaus came in with a 72 to tie the amateur Deane Beman. Del Morey of High Point, N.C., the third amateur bogeyed three of the first four holes and shot 74.

"I'm serious about it because I need the competition," Palmer said. "And none of us like to lose. We always try to beat each other no matter what we're playing in."

"Sure I want to win," Nicklaus echoed after a round in which he shot only one birdie and two bogeys.

Cincy Truck Driver Strike End Sighted

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two of the city's largest contractors signed agreements with the Teamsters Union Thursday night after a 36-hour bargaining session, raising hopes for a quick end to the six-week-old strike.

The strike of dump truck and cement truck drivers employed by more than 70 companies in a six-county area of Ohio and northern Kentucky has tied up highway and urban renewal construction for weeks.

Almost 100 drivers of Hilltop Concrete Co. and Klavitr Trucking Co. went back to work today.

About 500 other drivers stayed on strike, but their employers—69 different firms—are scheduled to meet Monday with the Teamsters in the presence of federal mediators.

More than 1,000 drivers walked off their jobs when Teamsters Local 100 first called the strike, but many have returned to work as the union reached agreement with various individual companies.

Cleveland Faces Top Teams in AL

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, who have been slipping steadily since the All-Star break, will have to beat the top teams in the league if they are going to move into contention for the pennant.

Of the 71 remaining games, 47 are against the top teams—seven each against Minnesota and Baltimore, 10 each against New York.

Against the rest of the teams in the league it will be Los Angeles eight games, Kansas City, seven, Washington five and Boston four.

The Yankees are in town tonight to open a four-game weekend series. The Tribe faces the White Sox three times next week, then hits the road for a three-game series in New York.

Free Speech Assured on BG Campus

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green State University has adopted a resolution saying the freedom of political expression on campus is essential.

The resolution, adopted by Bowling Green trustees Thursday, "merely sharpens policies under which we have been operating," said President William J. Jerome III.

Trustees, acting after the Faculty Senate suggested such a resolution, asked Jerome to draw up a set of rules and regulations consistent with the resolution.

Dr. Melvin Hyman, senate chairman, termed the trustees' action "a step in the right direction to continue the freedom of political expression we have always enjoyed at Bowling Green."

The trustees also approved an operating budget of $13.1 million for the 1965-66 school year and a $1.1 million capital improvements budget, including $1.8 million for an education building, two more buildings in a science complex and other improvements.

Tehan Quits As Pro Grid Whistleman

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dan (The Man) Tehan, who has combined successful careers as a county sheriff and a National Football League official, is giving up the officiating.

Tehan, an NFL official 35 years—longer than anyone else—announced Thursday he is retiring from active field duty and will become an observer of officials for the NFL.

"It is not a snoozi job," said Tehan, "but reporting the situation on the field for the betterment of the NFL officiating."

Tehan was the head linesman in the league's first championship game in 1933 between the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears. Thirty years later, in 1963, he officiated in another championship game between the same clubs.

Tehan has also been a basketball official 25 years for the Southeastern Conference.

He still is sheriff of Hamilton County, a job to which he has been elected for 16 years although he is a Democrat in this normally Republican stronghold.

Red Viet Woman Agent Executed

SOC TRANG, Viet Nam (AP)—A laundress attempted to smuggle powerful explosives concealed in her girdle into this important U.S. helicopter base two days ago, U.S. source reported today.

The woman was picked up at the base gate by Vietnamese security police, questioned, and then executed in a rice field at the end of the airstrip, the sources said.

Americans here fear that in the weeks before she was caught, she may have built up a cache of plastic explosives inside the base.

Americans here did not seem upset by the rough, battle field justice dispensed by the security police.
